Belovodie, white veds - what is it or who is it? Rus' - what is it or who is it? What did Stalin know about Rus and the Russian people?

What helped to win in the Great Patriotic War? In this book you will find the answers.

The book is intended for a wide range of audience.

To the descendants of the Vedrus

Let the greedy be greedy, the envious – feel envy, evil – be angry, and the brave – be brave. And the descendant of Vedrus, let them wake up! We must wake up. Time is ripe.

Primitive, funny and unworthy is to hope for or blame the tzar, to hope for or blame the Bolsheviks, hope for or blame the president, ministers or mayors and any other bosses. Already that time has approached, when descendants of Vedrus should nurture the next generation: much smarter, more insightful, people with great speed of thought. And these people will begin to turn humanity to divine truth, to divine thought.

Let the wars and revolutions for ever go away, the murders and violence, the evil will of misanthrope. We're telling the bloody savages - no. We're telling to the kind sun - yes!

*Russians, you are my family,
And I d not need another family,
In their life – they are good and simple,
But unbeatable on challenging days.
How many ancestors have laid down their heads,
Protected their native land,
so that our women could given birth,
So that the broad meadows bloomed.
Earlier I was not called a poet,
The verse was born in the corners of the soul.
I do not want to live a dishonest man,
I do not accept cowardice and lies.
Even if I groaned and cry from pain
But I will not ask for different fate.
Russian, you are my family,
And I do not need another family!*

PART 1

Methods of influencing a person's genetic code

In the year 1941, 22 of June – began the Great Patriotic war (World War II). In the middle of the night the German troops crossed the boundary of the Soviet Union on the territory of Belarus. Why precisely at this time? Because the occult services of Germany, which was silently headed by certain Tibetan monks (lamas), calculated the most suitable time for the beginning of a grand operation in destroying the descendants of the vedruss people, in other wards – The White civilization of Veds.

The war against the USSR was led not by Germany alone, but by almost all European countries. Precisely the international troops attacked the Soviet Union. If Germany alone had led the war, then in six to eight months German national troops would have been defeated, and Germany capitulated. The fact is, that the industry, factories of almost all European nations were working for the war efforts, against the USSR. And not only factories, but millions of men of European countries were mobilized and sent to war against the USSR. Not the nazi Germany was leading the war against the Soviet Union, but international Europe. And this is very important to understand. This implies that all the nations are governed from one center. And even the Soviet Union similarly was governed from that same center, but Stalin by that time was able to partially step out of the control of the priests.

Stalin was prepared by special people for the post of the first person of the country specifically of post-revolutionary Russia. His heavy criminal past was taken into account: on him laid the blood of innocent people. He committed robberies of banks with his teammates, the money was great. In such robberies there always participated high-ranking police officials and bank workers, (revolution in Russia was done not by bolsheviks and not by Lenin, but by completely different people – those people had access to the Tzar's family, they ruled the country), during the robberies of the banks the money was simply given to the robbers (and for show a few guards or ministers of banks would be killed), so that the so-called revolutionaries wouldn't be starving. Stalin was – an unusual person. He possessed occult knowledge just enough, to remain under the control of those, who was controlling all of this. Revolution – is a serious thing, an enormous amounts of people had to be used. In secret centers the future leaders were getting prepared, who in the future, would be leading behind themselves whole armies. In these armies there will be weapons, but the soldiers will have to be loyal to their leaders, and the people in these armies have to be willing to spare their own lives for the sake of the movement of an illusionary goal and namely: a bright future, a happy and just life of all people. The priests created such an image of bright future, where there will not be oppressed or the oppressors, and all the people are equal amongst themselves. In reality the priests understood very well, that, having created such an image, they are knocking at the door of genetics of Man: on a genetic level, and not only in the genetics of people, but in other structures of Man's energies such program is written – the priests were awakening it. And such people, as Lenin, Trotskii, Zinoviev, Sverdlov and those like them, using the skills of occult science, also aroused this genetic code. And millions of masses of peoples will follow them, dooming themselves to suffering and sacrificing their own lives.

Genetics of Man – it is the strongest weapon. And if the human psyche is effected, then this person becomes a robot: he is controlled, he does not belong to himself, but the person himself does not realize it. For instance, Trotsky possessed the highest mastery of owning his speech, vocal energetic impulse, hand gestures, the presence of glasses (at the time of illiteracy amongst the workers, they had an effect on the subconsciousness of people: that this person is literate, educated, he can be trusted). The voice of Trotsky (real last name Bronsheim) was husky, the words he pronounced clearly, brightly. The energy in his speeches was non begging and non demanding, but arousing respect and trust. This person went through a very good training, on how to arouse the genetic code of a Russian person. Features of the psyche specifically of Russians were studied by him thoroughly. Under the influence of hypnosis he was being trained. And himself he possessed hypnosis and used it in his performances. After his speeches at the meetings thousands of volunteers signed up for the red army. During the meetings in the crowd of people there were always special people: at a certain distance from each other they created an energetic psychic field. People, that stood very far away from Trotsky and could not physically hear him, after the end of the meeting, without finding out, what the speech was about, went and signed up as volunteers. With the help of those people, who stood in the crowd (they were psychics), the speech of Trotsky, unheard by a physical ear, came through straight to the subconsciousness of a person. Note: always or almost always at the meetings brass bands were used. These bands performed new musical compositions, in which, by entrusted people, were invested such musical inclusions, which effected the genetic code of Man, on those departments, which are responsible for patriotism – appears a desire to step into battle, to engage in melee brawls.

Stalin in the future similarly used such psychics; they were sitting in a hall in a perimeter, where Stalin performed. The hall simply raged with love for their leader, the most common phrases were perceived by people as something great, almost divine. The same was happening at the time of Hitler's performances: women literally fell in love with him and wanted to birth his children. The priests knew of such techniques and always used them in ruling over people.

What is music, its specific rhythm? It is when the subconsciousness begins to work, bypassing the consciousness. Such happens in other situations only when specially prepared psychics participate. Therefore, in any other instances the information comes through to the person only through his consciousness. But music enters into a person not through his consciousness, but, bypassing the consciousness, enters directly into the subconsciousness. That is why music – it is such an energy, which formulates a Man, it directs him. For instance, a person is listening to some kind of music (tune, rhythm) for some time (hour or two), then he gets up and performs some physical actions. The person thinks that it is his personal desire. In reality such desire was formulated by music, to which the person listened to.

Information which enters the person through the consciousness, comes under the control of the person. And the information, which enters directly into the subconsciousness – itself controls that person, it forces the person to perform actions.

In the time of Hitler's rule in Germany a large amount of marches was written. Such music causes a reaction in a person not towards a peaceful kind work, but, standing in rows, marching and participating in some combat hostilities.

Or another example. In Tzar's Russia very popular was the “March of the slavic girl”: it effected then (and effects right now) the souls of Russian soldiers, aroused a wave of patriotic love towards their Motherland, and the desire to defend it. This march was written by a Russian general. This general played instruments – such, as seven-string guitar, balalaika, accordion-trehryadka. We will tell about how this march was written.

The Russian-Japanese war was going on, year 1905, Port-Arthur. The Japanese landed on the shore and are attacking the Russian armies, the Russians are retreating. This general – a Russian person possessed colossal bravery, virility, in the most dangerous minutes of battle could perform actions, on the boundary of madness. For example, when the Russians were going into bayonet battle, the Japanese on this piece of front had a large amount of deadly-samurais, so-called kamakadze – they fought with a special extreme cruelty. This general was not in the first rows of the Russian chains. He saw, that the soldiers for a lengthy period of time could not brake through the Japanese order of battle. The general ran straight there. Upon getting there, he saw the cut down, tore into pieces bodies of his killed soldiers. And in that moment the blood boiled in the general, his war spirit had eclipsed the feeling of fear – the instinct of self preservation. At this time inside himself he heard a musical rhythm. In his right hand he held a saber, from his boot he pulled out a knife and took it into his left hand, and without fear speared himself in the deepest thickness of Japanese soldiers. The Russian soldiers who were behind him, saw the following: the general started to sway his body to the left and to the right, his movements were not very fast, but surprisingly elegant and even beautiful, each blow of saber or a knife reached its goal – the Japanese were falling down dead to the earth. Two of his orderlies as if feeling some rhythm, similarly carried the battle calmly, evenly and gracefully. The chain reaction continued. The soldiers, that were nearest, one after another took over this rhythm. This did not happen consciously, but subconsciously – the genetic code had worked: tens of soldiers already, in a single silent rhythm were destroying the living force of the opponent. In about 15-20 minutes the armies of Russian soldiers, without making a sound (no commands of the officers or yells of soldiers were heard), as a single organism, evenly and confidently carried out the winning battle with the opponent. In a few hours this part of the front was completely cleared of the enemy. The general was wounded, but not substantially. After the battle, upon returning to his dugout, he performed on garmozhka the tune, which he heard in his head during the battle – this was the future march of “Farewell of a slavic girl”. A fellow musician from the war-band put this tune into notes. The tune “March of the slavic girl”, unfortunately, had lost its main, the most meaningful energetic interplays of rhythms containing the genetic code of the vedruss. The general could not fully convey that rhythm, which he heard inside himself, and the musicians on their instruments similarly partially distorted the music, but non the less, it, to this day shakes up the souls of slavs.

This is what rhythm is. This rhythm exists in the Universe. Each peoples - have their own rhythm. One of the main encoding of peoples by the priests – it is through the musical accompanying of peoples.

In Russia today also exists a blocking musical background. It seems, there exist different kinds of music: symphonic, estrade, including rock, pop, blues and so on. But this music in most cases is written in such a style, that effects people by putting them “to sleep”, that is it's blocking the genetics of this or of that peoples. Such a block does not allow the peoples to understand, for example, that its treasures are being rubbed, everything is being carried out of its home, that belongs to it – in other words, that Russia is being rubbed, and its peoples are in poverty.

For Russian peoples under such a musical effect there participate three main elements: notes, cords and word-combinations. For example, such words of the a song as “Oh well-oh well, give me water to drink, oh well-oh well, give me a sip”. This phrase subconsciously formulates helplessness: “give me, I can not do it myself” - it is a block, because the music goes directly to the subconsciousness, bypassing the consciousness.

There are some positive songs, but there is too little of them, to take away the block.

Further, is religion. For example, such a phrase in a prayer: “Jesus Christ, god's son, have mercy on me, a sinner”. A person announces, that he is a sinner and begs for mercy. It is also a block. What does such prayer formulate? Man-sinner as if announces: do as you wish with me, just have mercy on me.

Another example. English musical group “The Beatles” had an enormous success at their concerts: the audience fell into a trance, they raged, after the concert they ran on the streets with wild excitement. And what did happen in reality? In their music was introduced only one note through John Lennon (the priests and certain dedicated people know such notes). Namely because of this John Lennon was killed, because of his music.

Why was Igor Talnikov killed? Not for what was talked about in his songs, not for its textual context, but namely for its musical context. The forces of darkness (dedicated by them people) caught in the music of Talnikov unknown (unusual) musical interplays. They understood, that namely such interplay gives a large popularity to an artist. The representatives of those powers calculated, that in a short period of time Talnikov could write music, inherent to the genetic code of his people, and then gradually this peoples will begin to come out from the control of the system – matrix of priests will blow up, it will no longer work. That is why only those musicians and singers get “spun out”, who can be controlled by the matrix.

In the Soviet time in each apartments and house an all-union radio was present, from the speaker came out a specific musical background, which suppressed the psyche. People, who were worked by such musical accompanying, were controlled psychically: any plans of the party they accepted with positivity, and the party leaders were considered the smartest of people, they existed on an unattainable height, and a common person felt himself to be worthless, small, and weak, like a mosquito.

STUDIES AT GASAROV'S

Again about Stalin. Before allowing Stalin the rule of the nation, he underwent training. And not at a regular educational institution, where a person is given such a collection of knowledge, after which he is made into the category of a deadlock “development” - it is called a “dark ignorance” - a technological way, and only a few after such an education, having refused all the comforts, are able to escape the clutches of the matrix (the system). Stalin underwent a training from a person, who possessed the ability, of luring an enormous masses of people.

This person lived at the Caucasus Mountains – lived un-wealthy, imperceptibly. A few of his workers raised sheep, but the meat Garasov (such was the last name if this person) never ate, he ate vegetables, which he grew, he took herbs, which he knew very well, he used the energy of the sun – he knew how to do that.

The last ten kilometers to the house of Gasarov Joseph Dzhughashvili walked by foot. It was a hot day, he really wanted to have a drink of water, simply languished of thirst.

Upon meeting, Gasarov walked Joseph into the room and put on a table two large cups of water. In one of the cups was a clean running water from a spring, in the second – the water was treated by this quiet powerful magician and with itself was a preparation, which effects the psyche of a person (Gasarov had his own method of preparing people for different goals: the person instinctively will reach out to that energy, which he himself represents, in this case it is two containers with water). Joseph reached out to the charged water – it meant that he was ready to accept the knowledge of this magician. Why do we call Gasarov a magician? Because he did not reach the level of a priest – too narrow of a specialization, but he possessed a very good sense of his field.

The studies mainly happened at night, then he would go to sleep. Sometimes the studies were carried on to the musical accompaniment. Joseph stood and perfected some gesture, for example: to take a glass of water and bring it to his lips – on this depends, whether the people who are listening to you believe you or not.

At first sight, this sounds funny, but there exists such a science Kabbalah, it possesses the depths of occultism. For example, a person says very kind bright ideas, but due to his gesturing this person arouses in people distrust, and no matter what he is saying with words – the people will not believe him, because there exists a language of gestures. And what is stronger – the language of gestures or the language of words – is a question of dispute. The second very important for the speaker – it is the manner of speaking: in different people it can be different, but one characteristic has to be present in all – it is a full, deepest confidence, coming from the eyes of the speaker.

Three courses of studies Stalin went through at Gasarov's. Two times in the mountains and the last one at a performance amongst the bolsheviks. The dark science was working – he was supported.

HITLER – STALIN

Between Stalin and Hitler in the middle of the 1930s two private meetings took place in Poland. These meetings were not recorded anywhere by anyone. The airplane with Stalin took off from Moscow and landed in Poland. The same was done by Hitler.

Their conversation was very serious. They understood, that today's world due to armament (and in the future the arms will become even more destructive) can not guarantee stability. Any nation, united with another or having gained power could independently attack whoever it wished. And to live in such explosive atmosphere, neither Stalin, nor Hitler wished to.

Stalin knew very well the plans of the Soviet Russia after the revolution of 1917, which Lenin did not carry out, and namely: to create a powerful Red Army and under the disguise of liberation of the working suppressed people (proletariat) to take over whole of Europe, and in the power of those countries put those who are elected by the people, but who are controlled by the priests. But Lenin did not carry out the plans of his owners. As soon, as he stopped carrying out the plans of the priests, he was taken out by the hands of his own wife. But such plans the priests were continuing to carry out, they simply set them aside for a time being. And this time in the mid thirties had come. But the priests for good reasons in their plans created very serious changes: they did not need the Soviet Russia anymore as a center and the foundation of power over European peoples, they moved this center to Hitler's Germany.

Stalin and Hitler in their private meetings discussed namely the plans of attack and consequent division of Europe. The initiator of such meetings was Hitler. Of course, about the main priests and their plans he knew nothing, but in his plans he considered the overtaking of foreign lands. England had to become his silent ally, and the Swiss and American banks will supply him with money. Hitler understood, that the Soviet Union possesses a powerful army, and he wanted and thought about how to weaken this army.

At the first meeting Hitler in detail described to Stalin, which lands will be given to Germany, and which - to the Soviet Union: Hitler asked to be given all of Belarus', a large portion of Ukraine, all of the Baltic states; the city of Leningrad and Finland will remain with Stalin, similarly a part of Sweden and Norway. Hitler was proposing for half of the Caucasus to be given to him, finishing off with Abkhazia. Stalin was offered Turkey (Hitler said this: "the Russian kings in ancient times always battled with Constantinople, then let those lands now become a part of eastern Russia"), as well as Iran, where there is lots of oil.

Today such re planning of European countries looks monstrous, but for those bloody times this looked quiet realistic. The only thing, which Hitler was skeptical of – that Stalin would give him Ukraine, and everything else he considered would be a success. He reasoned such: "Stalin – is not a Russian person, he is a Georgian, and if he gives away his motherland – the Caucasus, then everything else he will also give away".

It should be said, that Stalin was offered a chunky piece of the European pie, even more chunky, then he was asked in return. Stalin considered the offers of Hitler.

The youth of Dzhugashvili

Once Joseph Dzhugashvili studied at a theological seminary. He knew the many places of the hymnals by heart. Many chapters from the New Testament also knew by heart, many prayers. But the Old Testament never fully read, and when he read it – he left the seminary. He imagined God as wise, but not evil and insidious. When he read the testament of a supposed god to the Israeli people, he fell into a psychological shock and was horrified by this inhuman cynicism. (The book of Deuteronomy says: "And you will lend to many nations, but you will not borrow it yourself [and you will rule over many nations, and they over you will not rule]" - the Bible, Deuteronomy 28:12). Joseph Dzhugashvili realized that the Christian religion has nothing to do with God and with his son Jesus Christ.

Young Dzhugashvili still believed that God exists. But he stopped believing people. He reconsidered human values for himself after speaking with one of the assistants to the abbot of the monastery.

Dzhugashvili was not Georgian, in him flowed the blood of one small mountain people. In the seminary, he met with the hieromonk, who belonged to this people. They turned out to be of one nationality and very quickly became friends. This hieromonk liked to reflect, he wrote poetry. The two of them went to the mountains and talked about the meaning of life, about God. But here for several days the seminarian Dzhugashvili has not shown up. Hieromonk worried and went to his cell. He was lying on the bed and staring at the ceiling. The next day he came to him again and asked: "What's wrong?" Joseph was silent. Then the priest hieromonk called him to the mountains.

The next day they went. They left for their usual place, and the young friend began to read poetry to Joseph. The verses were pure and bright. But after a psychological breakdown, they caused irritation and even aggression in Dzhugashvili. They were silent for a long time each about their own. And so Joseph spoke:

"I do not want to know God, for he can not be known." I do not want to know people, because they can not be known. All my plans and dreams have collapsed.

Tears flowed down Dzhugashvili's cheeks - he cried. Inside, he felt a little better, and he began to speak:

"I'm leaving the seminary, just do not ask why."

Then the hieromonk decided to introduce Joseph to his confessor, the assistant to the abbot of the monastery, Father Nathaniel (Nail).

Father Nail agreed to a meeting with the seminarian when he learned that he wanted to leave the seminary. And one evening on a bench under a tree they had a meeting.

Father Nail looked very closely into Dzhugashvili's eyes. He realized that with this young man there underwent a very strong psychological breakdown. Joseph liked this holy father. It was a Russian man with open very kind blue eyes, gray hair, a gray beard. He spoke softly. Sincere kindness and profound honesty of this man opened the soul of Joseph, he wanted to tell everything frankly. And he told everything and cried. There was no one around, and he was no longer shy of the old man. They talked for a long time, and the next day they met again. Father Nail understood the soul of this man: in front of him sat a devastated broken little man. He knew how to help: he needed to break the old attachments to the end and show a new path.

Dzhugashvili told about the Old Testament, and Father Nail said:

- Books are written by people, but hearts are written by God. You did not know about it. Your heart has not accepted the words and thoughts of people, what's wrong with that? You need not be sad, but rejoice, for God is not in books, but in men. People look at something and say: "This is good," they look at the other and say: "This is evil," but in reality it can be the opposite. People are not aware today, where is good, but where is evil. What is evil for you, may be good for others. Only the soul can show man God. But who hears his soul? In holy scripture, you saw the demon. And I'll tell you more, and you will be surprised by my words, and if it hurts from them, do not believe them, but trust yourself.

- It is said: "Ask and you shall be given." And further it's not said. "Knock and it shall be opened on to you." And then it's not said. In fact, originally it was such: "Ask and you shall be given, and if you are not, take it yourself." "Knock and it shall be opened on to you, and if it is not opened - break the locks and open it yourself." Everyone will understand these words exactly as much as they can understand. The one who lives in the evil, these words he will perceive as permission to robbery. Those living in the kindness, the words, he will perceive as an appeal: "Only in great zeal man himself can reach everything. And there is no need to beg, if you can give it away yourself. And there is no need to knock on other people's doors, if you keep your own open. " And more it is said: "If you're hit on the left cheek, turn the one." And then it's not said. In fact, it was originally: "If someone slaps you on one cheek, turn to them the other, but cursed be he who will allow himself to be struck, for he who allows to do evil himself creates it." And it says: "Do not kill." And then it's not said. And initially it was like this: "Do not kill, but cursed be he who will allow to kill."

Cursed. (in Russian proklyat) In this case, this word means that the person sold or lost the divine and passed into the demonic world, and this is the worst thing that can happen to a person.

Cursed - sold the vow, (the vow in Russian is klyatva) that is, he who forgot the truth and lost harmony. /

And then Father Nail continued:

- Look for yourself in other matters, you can not be a minister of the church, your eyes are too wide open.

"Are not your eyes open, Father Nail?" Asked Joseph.

- I meet the morning sun, and in the evening I see it off. The sun is the love of people, and God is love for me. And it does not matter to me what I am for people - the joyful song of my heart is dear to me. Do you know why birds fly?

- What do you mean - why? Because they have wings.

- But this is only the visible part, physical. Birds fly because they are never attracted by perishable, the grounded. She will never fly up as soon as she becomes attached to some material thing, for the heaviness of the material will not allow the bird to fly up into the sky. And if it does not take off, then it is no longer a bird. CHERISH THAT, WHICH IS IN YOU AND DESPISE THAT, WHICH IS LYING AROUND.

These words of Father Nail deeply sank into Joseph's soul. In the future, material values truly did not please Stalin. After Stalin's death, only a pair of used suits, some shoes, a pipe, tobacco (it is called "Herzegovina Flor") and many written papers were found from personal belongings. All his life Stalin was filled with a great desire to raise this country and this great people from the ruins. And for this he had serious reasons. In the amazing abilities of the people he had the opportunity to be convinced.

Rise to power

In 1929, Stalin comes to power, if it can be said so. He managed to wedge himself among the Jewish leading stratum of revolutionaries. After all, the Revolution was done not for the power of the People's Soviet Deputies to come, but to destroy the people, in this case - the country of Russia, which in no way could to the end obey the priests. The priests perfectly understood who the Russians are and whose descendants they are. Stalin was not Russian, and he was trusted by those who conducted the revolution.

The first thing Stalin did was to force Trotsky (Bronstein) to leave Russia – a dedicated master of the Masonic lodge, who possessed not only a demonic type or psyche, but also the energy of a predator: Russian people was being destroyed by the millions by various means.

Let us return to the meeting of Stalin and Hitler. Stalin understood, that was inevitable and tried to pull off its beginning. But Hitler hurried him with an answer. And here they had a second meeting. Hitler was waiting for what Stalin would say, and he spoke:

- Our country is still weak, it takes time, to get strong – at least another ten years.

Hitler protested:

- It is too long. It is necessary in the next two or three years to begin reshaping Europe, otherwise it will be too late.

Hitler did not need a strong Soviet Russia, because in the plans of his master Russia must become the supply of raw materials both to the European countries and to America (after all Hitler was sponsored with money and everything necessary by American bankers as well) Stalin insisted on his own, but he maintained friendship with Hitler. The second meeting was over. Hitler reported to his master that Stalin did not agree. Then they began to annihilate Stalin.

In 1937, on the May Day holidays, by a group of generals and some top officials of the government was decided to blow up the mausoleum when Stalin would be on the tribune, greeting the columns of people walking along the Red Square. But special services prevented the terrorist act, the explosion did not happen. After that, Stalin had to get down to cleansing the Bolshevik ranks – the old revolutionary-Leninists.

But the high-placed Leninists wrote orders in such a way, that during the cleaning many innocent victims suffered. Stalin could not follow everything, so it turned that many innocent people were imprisoned.

Friendly relations were maintained with Hitler's Germany. Stalin and his government did everything to prevent war for as long as possible. The year was 1940. Europe fell under the feet of the German troops. Plenty of factories were re-equipped for military needs and hundreds of new ones were being built, both in Germany, and in the occupied territories. At this time, the NKVD and special services of the SS of Germany conducted secret negotiations on mutual assistance, exchanged were some secret intelligence data, as well as negotiations on deportation of a large number of untrustworthy German citizens in the territory of the Soviet Union, mostly Jews. Stalin made concessions, trying to delay the outbreak of the war. The army switched to a new armament. The heavy cavalry with swords were already obsolete, tanks and artillery were needed. And rifles - "trilines" were also obsolete. The soldiers were rearmed, they were given automatic machines.

In the USSR, new plants were built in a hurry, mostly military. At the level of special services under the label "top secret" with Hitler's Germany was concluded a peace treaty. Stalin had to make serious concessions.

From the Soviet Union, to German was sent large quantities : steel, iron, various metal, even sports equipment (barbells, weights, dumbbells) were willingly bought by Germany. Metal was of shortage for the Russians, but Stalin went for it, because a good relationship with Hitler was being built. And when Stalin war reported, that Germany is preparing to attack the USSR, he thought it was a provocation.

But these were not provocations. And on June 22, German troops invaded the territory of Soviet Union. The blow was swift and very powerful, cities were being seized, one after another.

There was an attempt at Stalin's assassination. In his favorite wine, he drank a glass of it before food, was mixed a poison. But this time Stalin having taken a sip from the glass, he set it aside – he did not like the wine. This saved his life. But within three days the doctors did not part from him. Stalin could not speak clearly. Instead of him on the radio with an appeal to the citizens of the country spoke Molotov. The poison in the wine and food was not found, they put it off on his health and a nervous shock.

The quest for the Veds.

Stalin appealed for help to psychics – he did not have anyone he trusted entirely. Psychics, of course, foresaw the war, and they also wanted to put it off to the later period. What does it mean to put it off? The fact is, that ordinary people can see only what is happening in the physical world – the manifested world. But there exists a second part of earthly life of people – it is invisible, un-manifested, it includes the thought energy. That is – energy, the person does not see it, but it exists. Meaning – an ordinary person does not see it, but there are people who do not only see it, but they can also use it (influence it). For example, what is electricity? It - is energy. And if one was to say that energy – it is electricity, then there will not be a big mistake. People learned to direct electricity by means of wires. Similarly, on a subtle plane: some people can move electricity by the power of thought, without wires. The fact is that the thought of man is much stronger than his physical body – much more powerful. It is another thing, that today's man can not use his thought to the fullest. Everything, that is happening in the manifested world, first occurs on a subtle plane (in a non-manifested world). And the psychics aspired namely on the subtle plane to move the beginning of the war to a later time – for one year. But they did not succeed. Stalin intensely began to look for new people, who could see the subtle plane and use it. The NKVD services were given orders to search for such people. Two groups were sent to Siberia, to the mountainous part of Altai.

The aircraft delivered these people to their destination, and they began their search. They searched for shamans among local people, deepened into the mountains, further and further moved the group in different regions. The shamans did come across, but in their abilities they were weak. They could not find a shaman with a special gift. And yet, luck smiled at them. In one small village they were informed that two days of horse back riding from there a shaman lived, and his mother was a shaman as well. They do not descend to people – people themselves go to them, so the trail there existed. A guide had volunteered and so they took off.

Indeed, two days later on the third they came to a small flat space in the mountains. There were two yurts nearby: in one lived a shaman, in the other - his mother. Some distance away stood a third yurt, it was meant for guests. Dogs barked, but nobody came out of the yurts. The guide explained that it was necessary to wait and pray, you could not disturb the shamans. The group had obeyed, and together with the guide they began to repeat the words of the prayer. In about an hour, an elder came out of the yurt. He did not speak Russian, the guide translated; and one person from the group knew the local language well, he controlled whether the guide translated correctly.

The shaman invited the guests to enter his yurt. The shaman did not know anything about the start of the war. Nevertheless, he was asked questions: “How long will the war last?”, “Who will win”, “What should the Soviet Union do?”, “Why did Germans attack precisely on June 22?”. The shaman asked everyone to leave. After a short time smoke from the fire came through the hole at the top of the yurt, a sound of tambourine was heard. Then the shaman came out and said that the spirits were silent. And he went into the yurt of his other. After some time, coming out from there, he said that she was waiting for them, and added: “for the white people”.

The canopy was opened, the yurt was light enough, everyone saw an absolutely old gray woman. She has such an ancient look, that it seemed she could not move independently, but she rose up quite cheerfully and bowed to the ground. Such the shamans never do, and if they do bow, it's not to people, so the old woman behaved very strangely. Then she sat down and gestured for everyone to sit down. Someone's voice was heard, not like human. But since the lips of the old woman were moving, everyone realized that it was she who was speaking.

Next to her lay three tambourines. She took the biggest one with both hands and hammered it in the air. An unusual sound resonated. The Russians began to feel sick, and their hearts began to hurt. The shaman woman seemed to see this and put the tambourine down, she said: “You live under fear”. The translator translated.

The shaman woman picked up a smaller tambourine and began to knock on it with a special animal bone. The Russian people began to feel pain in the temples, and great pain appeared in the head. Again she noticed this and put the tambourine aside. And pronounced: “the mountains did not accept you, there is no energy of the mountains in you”. The translator translated.

The shaman woman took a third tambourine, the smallest. The sound was heard – it was not sharp and was not smooth and effected the Russian people beneficially. The bodies relaxed, and inside there was a trust in this old woman. Then she pointed to one of the man from the group – it was a young Russian, a psychic, he was not the strongest, and he was taken on an expedition, mainly to carry heavy cargo and for protection – and she asked everyone to leave, except for him. The translator translated, everyone left.

The shaman woman rose, closed the canopy of the yurt, took the ashes from the fire and smeared the face of the young man. She took a tambourine and began to walk around playing the tambourine. Then she put on the coals of a fire some kind of grass – the yurt was filled with a pleasant smell. Then she took a wooden cup with some liquid and began to drink, the remnants of this water she poured on the head of the Russian. He sat without moving, the smoke of the grass had a relaxing effect on him. And the shaman woman circled and circled around the fire and this man, dancing and playing the tambourine. He lost consciousness and lay on his back. The shaman woman, after having done some more of her manipulations, opened the canopy and called the guests, and said, to bring in clean water. She poured on the face of the Russian – he woke up and looked around.

The old woman began her story, translator translated.

- Through your man, I connected with the energy of the white people.

She was not understood and she was asked again what it means “with the energy of white people?”

The shaman woman asked:

-What is the name of your land, where you live?

They understood and answered:

-Soviet Union.

She said:

-No. Your land starts with the letter “R”.

She was answered:

-Previously, it was called Russia, and even earlier – Rus'.

The shaman woman said:

- To this day your land is called not the Soviet Union, and not Russia, it's name is – Rus'. The true name of your land was replaced and thereby weakened.

The shaman woman was asked:

-Who replaced it?

She answered:

- It does not matter. Now we need to think about something else.

- Your Kin, led by Belovodie (The White Waters – that is White Veds), living on the stars, which are called the “Ninth world”, are eager to help you. There, on their territories, there are terrible battles of invisible forces. White Waters (White Veds) have contrived and have thrown such a powerful blow to the enemy, that the enemy can not longer have victory on Earth, but a huge number of white people will die. But at first, the White Waters (White Veds) were having a hard time – they were loosing the heavenly battle. I can not say more, for I am not allowed to enter, because I represent another energy and can not connect with them. Look for the White Water (White Ved) in Siberia. You will find him, it is a man. The people of Belovodie draw the cosmic world with the living energies of God, all the others can only use it.

The purple energy is not the only one which created the world, but only to the White Veds belongs such energy – namely it creates the present, and therefore the past, and the future. I did not bow down to you, but to the violet fire of creation and eternal life. Everything, that we possess has been passed on to my ancestors for a very long time by the White Veds and asked to preserve it, passing it from generation to generation, as long as life itself is possible on Earth. I have been waiting for you, a year already. The violet fire, the white fire – those are living energies, and there is a third energy on the Earth, this energy is called Rus'. The present, the past, the future – this is that tri-unity, on which everything rests. The White Veds can create new worlds and lives. All the people of the Earth need to protect the Belovodie (White Veds): namely the White Veds care for all the people. But the forces of destruction deceived the people and sent them to destroy the White Veds. But if they destroy the Veds – they will destroy themselves. Pass these words to him, who sent you.

The shaman woman suddenly exhaled, and her unusual, inhuman voice died down. She was deeply asleep. Tremendous forces were spent. The guide called the son of the shaman woman. He said that she can sleep through the whole day, if you want – wait, but she can not tell you anything more.

The group sent by Stalin went back. The people walked in silence, each thought over the words of the shaman woman. How will Stalin react to this? Will he call this a delirium? Some kind of mystical White Veds, which should be protected – what kind of people are they? It is Russian people – then what kind of White Veds are they: they are uneducated and dark, they need schools to be built for them and to be educated. And where to look for this White Ved? Siberia is big, but he needs to be looked for. The senior of the group had contacted Moscow and said, that the strongest shaman woman was found, in this very region, but she is talking about some kind of White Veds. One of them lives somewhere in Siberia – it is a man. She said that, you will find him, but she did not say where that place was where he lives – she did not say. What should we do next?

After a few hours they received an answer: “Start looking for this man. Most likely it is an elder, probably engages in healing arts – therefore someone knows about him. Check all the Siberian male healers. Involve the local NKVD, let them gather data on such people”.

The search began. Several more groups have been sent in to help. A month had passed, but all to no avail. Of course, many various healers have been found, but those were ordinary people: healers, herbalists. Stalin demanded to strengthen the search, he was intrigued by the latest message from the shaman woman about the White Veds. And how does she know, that a very long time ago Soviet Russia was once called Rus'.

“German troops will soon be at the walls of Moscow, - Stalin pondered with himself, - they have prepared well, a lot of equipment. But why do they not bomb Moscow? They have plenty of aircrafts, in the sky they are masters. Our aircrafts are inferior to them: the quantity, and quality is on their side. I am told incredible nonsense that the enemy's airplanes – whole squadrons – fall to the ground and explode without having reached Moscow some fifty, sometimes thirty kilometers – no one is shooting them down. My specialists suggest, that at German airfields antifascists mined the airplanes before takeoff. But why do they not explode in the sky, but on the earth? What force is making them fall? A report came in that a pilot was caught from such an airplane, I wonder what he will say.”

The interrogation of the pilot

The next day a captive pilot was brought in. Stalin himself wanted to see and listen to what the pilot was saying. A prisoner was brought in. It was a middle-aged German, skinny, with deep-set eyes – within them was fright and sadness. Stalin waved his hand: begin. The interpreter spoke in German:

-What happened to your airplane? Perhaps, you were shot down by anti-aircraft guns? Why did the plane crash?

The German listened to the question and began to talk:

- We were flying to Moscow to bomb the city itself, only the Red Square and the Kremlin was forbidden to bomb. Several bomber squadrons were already sent to Moscow, but only once did we reach the goal – at the very beginning, all subsequent attempts were without result. Intelligence reported, that aircrafts are not reaching Moscow and are falling. The command does not understand what is happening; security is enhanced at the aerodromes, every aircraft is carefully checked before departure. They think that Russians have some kind of secret weapon, perhaps a laser. Now they are flying to bomb Moscow only at night: the laser beam will be seen in the dark.

The interpreter translated everything that the pilot had said, and repeated the question:

- What happened, why did your plane fall?

The German began to tell:

- We took off from the airport, everything was fine, the instruments showed that the airplane was in perfect order: the fuel tanks were full, the engines were working normally. We passed the front line, no one was shooting at us, in the sky our fighters guarded us. The navigator reported that thirty-five kilometers remained to the goal. The sky turned gray – morning was beginning; we were supposed to bomb while it was still dark, and then land on our airfield when it got light. And then something strange started to happen; the plane swung, some power began to rise me from the chair, but I was fastened by a safety belt – if it were not for the belts, I would have flown out of the chair. I was very scared. And then I realized that the engines do not work – there was a deathly silence. Communication on the radio stopped. I thought that if the engines are not working, then we are standing still, but why are we not falling, or are we already on the ground? My co-pilot shouted something, and I unfastened the belt, opened the cabin. Then everything happened very quickly. I was falling down. The cold air brought me to my senses, I pulled the ring, the parachute opened. Under me I saw, that our aircrafts are burning on the ground. Stalin looked at the German with unblinking eyes, he understood that the pilot was not lying. “If in that place were our anti-aircraft guns, then it would make sense, but there were no anti-aircraft guns there. Then who is shooting down German aircrafts? What is happening? Scientists, designers, specialists are already working with the wreckage of these aircrafts. No apparent reasons can be found. They are blaming everything on some mystical forces. It looks like mysticism. The pilot says that the airplane was hanging in the air, the engines stopped, and some kind of force was pulling him out of the chair. Yes, this pilot will help us a lot”.

They began to ask more questions of the pilot. There was such a question:

- You say that some kind of force squeezed you out of the chair. What did you feel at that time?
 -As if there was a strong current of air, vey strong, it began to put pressure on me, that it seemed that my insides would come out.
 -But how did you manage to leave the cockpit?
 -The pressure stopped, and it became somehow easy to move, vey easy. For a few seconds we were hanging in the air because when I opened the cockpit cover I did not feel the flow of the oncoming air. And then you already know: I began to fall and pulled on the ring.
 -Perhaps you heard some strange noise? Or saw some glow?
 -There was no noise and no glow. I had the impression, - the German continued, - that the plain stopped and there was a strong gust of wind, namely of wind, but where did it disappear to then – I do not know.
 -Do you really think that a huge twin-engine airplane could be stopped by the wind?
 -I just can not imagine anything else”.
 -You are saying that you were scared?
 -Yes, at the very beginning I was vey scared, I was seized with a terrible fear, but quickly it passed.
 -You say that the airplane was hanging in the air. But by itself it could not hang.
 -By itself, it could not hand, but it did hang – that is for certain. I opened the hatch, and it was very quiet. If the plane were flying, I would hardly be able to get out of the cab: a strong stream of head-on air would prevent me from leaving the aircraft. Or at that time I felt nothing because of fear.
 There were still many questions. The German spoke in detail about them, but he could not say anything concrete.
 “The strangest thing, according to the German, it turned out, that his airplane hung in the air and hung for several seconds. But this is impossible. And if possible, then what power could hold in the air a heavy aircraft?” - such contemplated Stalin, once he remained alone. He walked in the room for a long time and reasoned with himself. And suddenly, unexpectedly for himself, he remembered the words of the shaman woman, he was given them by a text on paper: “Your Kin from Belovodie are eager to help you all”. And then Stalin was reminded of his younger years.

The Hidden Past of Stalin

The Ministry of Internal Affairs of Tsarist Russia has closed a secret agreement with Joseph Dzhugashvili. He was caught in a very serious matter: people were killed. He was looking at penal servitude or the highest measure. Psychologically he was worked very quickly, in the tsarist secret police were such specialists. Joseph was tolled very quickly and very intelligently that his life is stopping here: penal servitude – it is a slow, painful death. And they said: “You have a way out. Right now you will be taken to the cell, the night is given to you for pondering. Tomorrow you will be brought back to this office. If you say, that you agree to cooperate with us, then we sign the documents, and you leave as if nothing had happened, if you say “no” - you will never see freedom again”.

At night young Dzhugashvili did not sleep, he reflected. When the next day he was brought to the office, he confidently replied: “I agree”.

The year was 1913. Joseph – was still a young man in the prime of his life. Ahead of him is his whole life, and suddenly – that's it, further only torment, and then death from suffering and pain. And in one night he reconsidered his whole life. And at night, sitting in a solitary cell, he understood, and he understood it deeply, truly, that in essence, he was a nobody: he was a weak and even helpless little man. And it seemed to him that he was a hero and a great motherland man, a revolutionary; that he is a hero who can free the people from autocracy. And now, sitting in the cell and realizing that in fact he no longer exists, but for him remained only torment – it was cold on his soul, and he cried. “What is happening? I wanted to be a clergyman, but I got a complete disappointment. I wanted to be the liberator of the people, but I turned out to be of no use to anyone, the people lived peacefully and continued to live without me. Who am I? Where is my place? Namely mine. What will I be offered tomorrow – to cooperate with them? Let them offer at least something – I agree, I have no more strength, no desire for something to strive for in this life. I do not want any more changes and I will devote my life to quiet contemplating – if it works out, if I still have such a happiness – to just live.”

And in such full spiritual devastation and disappointment the next day Joseph Dzhugashvili was brought in to the office. At the table sat the same lieutenant-colonel of the police of the city of Tiflis. Joseph was offered to sit down.

-Do you agree to cooperate with us?

And he answered:

-I agree.

When all the necessary in these cases deeds were completed, Joseph was told:

-You can go. But one person asked you to meet him. If you do not mind – you will be taken there. He said that he did not mind. He was dropped outside the city near the house and said:

-Go to the door, you will be greeted there.

He walked slowly along the path to the house. The door opened, and a man in a Russian shirt came out to meet him and told Joseph to come into the house. He led Joseph into a large bright room, set him in an armchair, and left. A minute later a man appeared in the uniform of a naval officer with shoulder straps of a colonel (captain of the first rank). He was quite tall and of dense body built. From him emanated some kind of special energy.

Dzhugashvili became calm at the heart and even happy. “What does this person want from me?”

-Hello, Joseph Vissarionovich, - said the colonel, - my name is Sergey Sergeevich, - and he sat down in a chair next to the armchair. He offered cigarettes, tea and all sorts of appetizers.

The colonel himself poured the tea, they both drank and ate. And then, finally, the colonel began to speak on the matter:

-Everything, that I will talk to you about, you may consider delusional and will be near the truth. I will not ask of you anything and will not explain anything. I will only tell the facts and forecasts for the future, but people always create their own future. Themselves to the end not realizing it, - the colonel appealed to Joseph, - you (revolutionaries) begin to influence the state system, and therefore the world politics. Have you thought about the consequences? After all, one part of the people will defend the current regime, and the other will defend a new one, and this is - a civil war.

Joseph sat there thinking. He did not look into it so deeply, he wanted, as it seemed to him, justice. And he said aloud:

-Do you think that the revolution will be successful?

The colonel replied:

-if you knew what forces are involved in this, you would not doubt it. The revolution will happen, and it will succeed.

Joseph was confused.

-if you know ahead of time, then why do you not prevent it? After all, you are in power, you have a whole army and police.

-You are mistaken, - said the colonel, - actually it is you who have the army and the police, that is them. And Nicholas the II is already a hostage, his fate has been determined. The year 1905 has showed, that the main symbol of power – the czar – must be destroyed. Thus, the age-old foundations will be destroyed, there will be nothing to defend, anarchy will begin, which means the collapse of the state. And then who will seize power? The one who is ready for this. And, of course, revolutionaries are the ones, who will be ready for this.

Joseph Dzhugashvili was dumbfounded, he could not understand who was in front of him: either a provocateur or a revolutionist. He reasoned to himself: "The colonel's uniform is naval, but it does not mean anything. Maybe it is an agent of foreign intelligence? But the police offered me this meeting. His reasonings, are strange: he knows beforehand what will happen. Or maybe he's bluffing, but what does he want from me?"

-Your comrades in arms - are only a visible part of what is happening. The change of power in Russia is already a foregone conclusion - a matter of time. And if you think, that you are freeing the people, then you are deeply mistaken. The peoples of Russia, and especially the Russians, will be subject to destruction after the revolution, there will remain exactly as many workers as needed. Rich Russia - is a tasty pie, and this pie is already divided. There is a map on which Russia is already divided into dozens of autonomies and republics.

It is estimated how much gold, oil, coal is extracted by Russia, how much steel it has melted. This all already belongs mainly to American capital. And you dream of emancipating the oppressed masses. This world has long lost the human face, and has accepted and has long been living the demonic order, and in these orders there is no place for caring for a person. And I'll tell you more: everything is done purposefully, so that people from generation to generation would live worse. And here there is no guilt of the czar or nobility, they are only a tool in the hands of others, but no one sees the hands of such. The main goal for all mankind has long been created, it is false, hence the inequality among people, and this ultimately leads to suffering. And all this is created by the people themselves, because their goal is false. And that's it, the ring is locked. And the way that leads to a joyful, quiet life has long been lost. And all those values, where people live, all those centuries-old customs and traditions have nothing to do with the divine essence of people's lives. All peoples on the Earth are governed by a few people, and the czar, generals and all kinds of services - are just a means of controlling them. And even those money magnates who own huge money - are not the most important. And in general, Joseph, everything, that people can see, hear, understand, realize and even comprehend - is just the wall of the house on the outside, and nobody knows what happens behind this wall inside the house, except for some people.

-Except for those who live in this house," said Dzhugashvili.

"They have several houses, they live in different places, live inconspicuously, a kind of welterweight class - they are not rich, and not the poor. And no one even suspects that money is a tool that they created for complete control over people.

After these words, Joseph wanted to laugh, they seemed ridiculous. "It's just nonsense. There is a reason the colonel immediately warned me that his words could be taken for nonsense. "

-I can tell you a plan to overthrow the czar and seize power by revolutionaries. You can rest assured, Joseph, the revolutionaries will seize power, the plan of action has already been developed. The czar himself will write down his renunciation of the throne, and if he does not write it - he will be killed, and a false government will come to take his place. It will exist until a certain moment. By that time specially trained people will come from abroad, they will lead the revolutionary masses into the heat of civil war. The rivers of blood will spill, and this blood is of innocent human beings.

The colonel fell silent and looked at Dzhugashvili. And he, in turn, tried to understand: who is this colonel? Everything is so detailed. And then it dawned on Dzhugashvili: "Why, this colonel himself has a part in working out a plan to overthrow the Tsar. Then why this masquerade, he could just explain what I should do. What is he implying? What should I do? After all, I signed an agreement to cooperate with the police. " And Joseph asked a question:

- I do not understand. Tell me directly, what should I do?

- Nothing special. Continue to do what you did before. I am talking with you to explain to you that no power in Russia out of the possible ones for today will bring a joyful easy life to the people. I'm talking to you because I know: you sincerely want to make life easier for the people. But I tell you with all responsibility: you (revolutionaries) are only puppets in the skillful hands of puppeteers.

The colonel fell silent.

Dzhugashvili stood up and said:

- Are you proposing I stop the revolutionary activity and leave Russia?

- No, quite the contrary.

-Then answer me, Sergey Sergeevich, who are you?

- I'm the one who takes care of the land with the name Rus'.

- What does it mean? You speak in riddles.

-It's hard for me to explain my mission, but I'll try. It is very important for the planet Earth and for the Universe that the land with the name Rus' live. Today her name is Russia. After the revolution, it will be called differently. But these names exist in the world of people, they have no cosmic essence. On Earth before, for a long time, there lived a people who possessed such knowledge, with the help of which harmony was always preserved in all. My words are completely incomprehensible to you, but believe me: it was so and so will be. You, Joseph, wanted to devote your life to serving God. So answer me: what is God?

-I wanted to become a priest, - answered Dzhugashvili, - and serve in the church. But I was given the understanding that there is no God there.

- You say that there is no God in the church. So you believe that God exists?

-I never doubted it. But honestly, I do not know where to look for him.

-The people, who live from time immemorial on earth with the name of Rus', said the colonel, - are the bearers of the divine essence, this essence fell asleep, and the time of awakening has not yet come. But right now I want to talk with you about something else. Speaking in a primitive language - people today are divided into two categories: those in whom God lives and those who think, that they love God, but in fact they have been serving the Mammon for a long time. But there are people, who guard the "dream" of this people, and as soon as time rises, they will start waking it up.

To Dzhugashvili all of this conversation for a long time seemed delusional, but he asked:

-Can you explain to me in a few words who they are, these sleepless ones?"

The colonel asked:

-Have you read Pushkin?

- Yes, I am familiar with his work.

-You are familiar with such words, - and the colonel pronounced them: - "The Volhvs are not afraid of mighty lords, and they do not need a princely gift; truthful and free is their prophetic tongue and is friendly with the will of the heavens. "

Joseph retorted:

- The volhvs lived a very long time ago, but now in our modern world nothing of this exists and can not be.

-The volhvs have not disappeared anywhere. They are less - it's true, no one hears about them - it's also true. But they still live today and fulfill their purpose.

-Do you mean to say that Pushkin is an unusual poet, or a prophet?" Asked Joseph.

- Prophets of different kinds on the Earth are many, they prophesize different things about different things - but what's the use? Pushkin, or someone who is born under such a star, could have had a divine essence, divine thoughts, flowing through himself, bring change to the people of his age, and the world through the people would change for the better. Pushkin did not really fulfill his mission at all - there are reasons for this. He would have fulfilled it all the way, but his Kin and Pushkin himself was put out of action by way of blood mixing with a foreign people (African). You know, probably, that Pushkin was half a non-Russian man. But we deviated to the side, let us return to the topic of our conversation.

-I do not know why, but I believe you. And I'm ready to listen to you, - said Joseph.

-That's good, the Colonel said. - In that case, I'll briefly explain the situation to you.

The conversation went on about the future, the strategy of cooperation and the further activities of Stalin was developed. And in the future, from year to year, Joseph Dzhughashvili increasingly liked what he would secretly from everyone, accomplish, if he could. He understood that no one had guaranteed his life.

Stalin was not a kind or a bright man, he was cynical enough and cruel, but in that bloody world and among demonic individuals (revolutionaries) namely such a man could do something. This was understood by those who started this conversation with Stalin. And the fact that Stalin studied at a theological seminary, said that he is able to conduct a conversation on a mystical, not tied to the earthly life theme. And the colonel well understood the inner world of Dzhughashvili, because those youthful pure impulses towards the good, the divine did not disappear anywhere - they simply moved to the second or even to the third place.

And to Stalin, talking about the volhvs seemed delusional, but in his heart he felt good, and he did not resist and did not reject what he heard. And in the future, during and after the revolution, he saw with his own eyes that the peoples of Russia were subjected to the worst genocide and artificial destruction (starvation, shootings, concentration camps).

Stalin was helped in advancing to power, but he did not even know about it.

(What can darkness do? Exactly what it can do. What can Light do? Light can do what the Light can do).

Stalin himself could see that the revolution was needed not for the liberation of peoples, but for plundering of the country. And the peoples were thrown under the bloody press of the war, including civil war. And all that the colonel spoke of with Stalin, he himself saw, and, being a man who sincerely desired justice for all, he went on his secret line, as the colonel and not only taught him. Cleverly and subtly taking power into his own hands, he freed the country from the invaders and raised it to the level of a strong and developed nation. The peoples of Russia began to build a new life and create new relationships between themselves. Developed countries did not help Soviet Russia, but on the contrary tried to do everything to harm it. But thanks to the unique talent of ordinary people, new technologies were created and factories were built. And to endure such a terrible test as the Great Patriotic War, could a nation that was united by a great idea and selfless love for its land, for its roots, for Stalin did not cut down these roots. And it was patriotism that played the main role in the victory over the international troops of the European peoples led by Hitler's Germany, or rather, led by the money magnates and tycoons of America and Europe. And after the forces of darkness lost the open war with Rus' in 1941-1945, they worked out another plan for how to disintegrate the country from within (including alcohol, drugs).

And Stalin subsequently would pronounce these words:

"When I die, many garbage from lies, conjecture and slander will be piled on my grave. But the wind of change and new time will scatter this garbage in the backyard of history. And then everyone will see the truth, and it is pure and bright, and this light will be stronger from year to year. And be friends with the Russian people - namely it will create a new civilization in the future on the Earth."

Elder Volodar

The beginning of October 1941. Stalin was informed from Siberia that an old man had been found: "He lives in a taiga deep-land by himself, his old woman died several years ago, the children all parted, we are not looking for them, because there was no such order. The old man is unusual: people are brought to him, which can not be cured - he is recovering them and they are leaving him on their feet. This old man truly is unusual, we could not get up to him on the porch: near the house the whole group felt terrible, and no one dared enter the house, waiting until the old man came out himself. In neighboring villages, it is said about him that he can easily cause rain if the drought threatens. Fires are never here, because the elder has taught the villagers a special spell against a fire. And when he looks at the starry sky, he seems to be reading: about any person can tell everything, and what a person can do to avoid trouble. And he told about the war long before it began. "

From Moscow to Siberia left the message under the signature "secret": "Ask the old man a question: does he have relation to the White Veds or to Belovodie. With an old man, behave politely, in no case threaten him. Do not harm the elder in any way, but protect him in every possible way." This message was handed over to the chief of the expedition, sent from Moscow to Siberia. It was a strong psychic, a disciple of Freud. It was he who had led a conversation with a Siberian old man. The old man was called Volodar.

-Tell me, said the expedition chief, - have you heard anything about the so-called White Veds or Belovodie?

-I will answer you this question, said the old man, - if you tell me the second question.

- I do not have a second question yet. You see, I came from Moscow, they sent me to find a man living in Siberia, which belongs to the White Veds. Personally, I do not know who they are, I have never heard of them, but they are some unusual people. Here you come close to the description of such White Veds. We came here not just out of curiosity. Our country was attacked by a well-armed enemy, cunning and strong. And we became aware that some White Veds can help us. If you have not heard anything about them, we will immediately leave, and forgive us for having brought you trouble.

The old man Volodar spoke in his calm, confident voice, staring straight at his conversator with his blue eyes:

- In an open battle, Rus' can not be broken - they know this, but hoped that our people lost for a time the essence of their soul and spirit and would rush to return what belonged to it under the old regime.

- Under what old regime, under the tsarist regime? - the psychic asked.

- Yes, at the time of the tsar. And they do not know that, the strength of our people is in their native land, and this land is above all riches.

-Who are you talking about? - Who are "they"?

-Those who sent troops to Rus'.

-You mean to the Soviet Union?

- Yes, today this is what this land is called.

-You did not answer my question. Do you have anything to do with the White Veds?

- I am living on the earth in the flesh living Vedas, Nav and I rule by myself.

The psychic wanted to ask a question, but the elder continued:

- Already more than four years ago I saw on the sky, that some forces were able to move a star.

And stars in this position created a disastrous death of most of the cosmic energies that belong to my people. And then I realized that it was war. And I made efforts to bring the star back to its old place, but failed. And recently, in the sky, I realized that the star occupied its usual place. I knew that this would happen, but I did not know - when. Recently, I began to feel my native energy of colossal power in space, I immediately determined it, it is not only capable of moving a star, but of a whole constellation. And therefore, it is necessary to manage such energy skillfully. And they did it through the people, in whom psychic energy reached its highest point. There on the border there is a fortress (Brest Fortress) - in it soldiers, women and children reached the highest point of the divine "I" without concoction: they decided not to surrender, having chosen terrible death for themselves - they rejected their flesh in the name of the salvation of their people, thereby raising the spirit, and the Ninth world heard this, for the purest energy in those White Veds awoke.

And through them flowed the strongest energy that I felt in space. The star was easily put in its place. For those people in the fortress, in fact the first ones to take the blow from the insidious enemy, it was necessary to hold out for at least ten days. And they did it. And even the plan was over fulfilled, not knowing about it at all. And yet it happened not by chance. They did not have time to think how to act at all, because the war was started at night unexpectedly, that's why they were instinctively instigated. Their true "I" will never surrender to captivity. And they acted as their ancestors did: having refused their flesh, they kept the soul, that is, their eternity. And women sometimes gave an example of perseverance to the men. And I understood, that everything is in order with our people. And no need to go into details, because you can not understand, those living today, that, which I'm talking about, and that's not the point, the main thing is in the other.

The elder Volodar stopped talking, looking away from his converser. The psychic sat and tried to understand what the old man was talking about. The world of energies was familiar to him. But that the stars could move - this he heard for the first time. He was able to use the constellations and psychic energy of people. He could conduct a psychoanalysis of a person and, in fact, say whether a particular person will be able to carry out a specific task. Their secret subdivision, consisting of psychics of all stripes, calculated the beginning of the war, only the hours did not coincide. And they also figured out that the war would last no more than three years, and Europe would break the Soviet Union. But not long ago, in early autumn, their agency revised the starry sky: the advance of enemy troops as energy bursts of a single matrix field of the opponent in outer space. And it was accurately revealed that there had been tremendous changes, it turned out that the war could last not three years, but about six years. But for such a long time Europe can not lead a war, and then the superiority of enemy troops disappeared, and equality of forces was obtained, and the psychic energy of the people, that is, patriotism, came to the fore.

And patriotism grew many times in the autumn: the soldiers stood literally to the death, and, wherever possible, they withstood the superior enemy forces for several days. And only enemy aviation, dropping thousands of bombs on the position of defenders, allowed the invader to move furthers.

The spirit of the Russian people has grown many times – namely this is what made it possible to win the war, and nothing else, because the technical and military superiority was on the side of the enemy. But at the very beginning of the war, no one could have imagined that the colossal internal psychic outburst of the people would allow the Russians in a short time to create a completely new weapon in terms of their technical characteristics: almost complete replacement of artillery pieces would take place; howitzer guns in their technical characteristics will excel German; "Katyushas" with their missile projectiles possessed a colossal destructive force and terrorized the enemy; T-34 tanks were superior to German ones of the same type, and even entered into battle with heavy German tanks like "Tiger" and won. And one of the developers of the T-34 tank even went to the front line and participated in the battle, while in the tank, studying its advantages and disadvantages, nearly died, but knowing the capabilities of this machine, managed to take control and brought back the burning tank. The crew managed to put out the fire, and they again went into battle. The engineer was pleased with this experiment, although he himself almost died. And in the future the tactical qualities of the tank were improved. This tank went through the whole war and proved itself to be a great fighting machine.

Already at the very end of the war, Stalin called the engineer-designer of tanks to himself and thanked him with all his heart, saying these words:

- The main developer of the tank was Koshkin (which means cats in Russian). Your kittens were tearing the German tigers. Where do these cats grow up?

"In the Soviet Union, comrade Stalin," replied the engineer.

Stalin continued:

- In the depths of the people. I understand very well that only a Russian cat can gnaw a tiger's throat. Thank you. What can I do for you?

The engineer replied:

- All I needed was, I already received, soon our people will celebrate the victory.

"Thanks to people like you, our army will soon eliminate the enemy's troops completely."

Stalin's meeting with the White Ved

The conversation was continued by the chief of the expedition, turning to the elder:

-And yet, tell me directly: are you a White Ved or not?

Volodar said calmly:

- Yes, I am.

In Moscow came the message: "We found the White Ved. Waiting for your instructions."

A message came from Moscow to persuade the elder to come to Moscow. But if he does not give his consent, do not use any violent actions.

In very mild form, Volodar was explained that he was invited to Moscow, but if he does not want it, then no one will insist. They explained why it was in Moscow, that it was the capital and so on. And for some reason everyone decided, that the old man would flatly refuse. But Volodar sat for a while in silence, it was evident that he was considering the proposal, and then confidently pronounced:

- I agree.

They immediately contacted Moscow. From Moscow, Stalin's plane was sent specially for the elder. With great respect and with an over-emphasized politeness, Volodar was taken to the Kremlin. For the elder, all conditions were created, so that he felt more or less comfortable. He was explained everything: where he is, who wants to meet with him. But it turned out that Volodar himself knew a lot about the life of the country and in the current political situation he understood quite well.

The next day Stalin met with the White Ved. Stalin was in a spacious room, where there was a fireplace, there were several seats, and there was also a round table. On the table lay a map. Foot steps were heard. The door opened, the old man entered the room, the door closed behind him. Stalin and the White Ved were left alone. Stalin quickly came to the elder, smiled with all his heart - inside became calm and even happy. The same feeling - and it surprised him a lot at the time - he experienced at a meeting with the colonel in Tiflis in 1913. Stalin met his gaze with the old man. The blue-gray eyes had such an unusual awareness, and this calm appearance of the old man inspired complete trust. And Stalin understood: this person is on a different, higher, unearthly level. Stalin felt like a schoolboy, and even then he felt that completely, even more than himself, he trusted this man. And again he remembered Tiflis and that colonel. "What is the connection between them? And maybe it is the most direct one? ". These thoughts flew in his head in a matter of seconds. Stalin pronounced:

- Hello. Believe me, that only very important events pushed us to your search.

Volodar smiled broadly and pronounced:

- It's also interesting for me to visit new places. You did not discomfort me at all. You were looking for a Ved - he stands before you. I know that there is a war and I will try to answer any of your questions.

Stalin liked that a very warm contact had developed between them. To this meeting he was preparing scrupulously. But everything happened differently. Having met with the old man, he suddenly lost the thread of conversation. He tried to remember, but did not succeed. But the elder's confident and calm voice dispelled the tension:

- You, of course, understand perfectly well that the stars do not control the lives of people, but people themselves, using stars. It is enough to direct people's thoughts in the right direction - and stars will build this direction. I know that the direction has for some time been chosen for the self-destruction of all people. Who did this is another question. This was done by someone who understands what constitutes the cosmic essence of people and the essence of energies. And the most important creative energy that creates and destroys, which unites the Universe, preserves harmony in it, nourishes all with itself, and rotates Kolovrat - the human thought is.

Stalin asked:

- How did it happen that people were given direction for self-destruction?

"It happened a long time ago, when it was not even known that there was evil, when it was only being formed and towards its purpose it moved secretly, using treachery and deception. When there was no lie, and only the truth lived in the thoughts and goals of people. And there was no means to protect against this virus, there was no immunity. Any action of people does not pass without a trace in the world of stars, even the deed of one person, and not to mention that of large masses. The power which attacked Rus', is great - it possesses colossal destructive possibilities.

But these powers from century to century, lost their knowledge, which meant that opportunities were also weakened. In the 1920s the country was completely captured by them. But what happened in the end? It got out of their control. And instead of being completely destroyed, and the people living here should have been almost completely destroyed, it turned out the opposite: the people united around a new idea, and in a short time managed to uplift and create a powerful state. I say with full responsibility: now Rus' (the Soviet Union) will not be captured. In the future, plans will be revised to seize Rus', a new method will be chosen, not a military one. And I will say first: they will manage a lot of things, but once again there will be a complete failure of all their plans. The result of this war is already predetermined. Berlin will be divided into two parts by a high wall. This will mean that the darkness is still strong. But it will also mean that the forces of creation and eternal life also did not waste time, and their potential has increased, and will continue to grow in the future.

Stalin understood the elder's words only in general terms, but this was enough to catch the most important thing, namely: that the Soviet Union would win. Stalin believed the old man's words, for he already had experience of meeting with such people.

Volodar fell silent, he went to the window and looked at the street. Stalin asked a question:

- Can you say: will Moscow be seized by the enemy? And will the German troops advance far into the depth of the country?

Volodar somehow easily turned around from the window and cheerfully said:

- Two cities, as two significant energies, the enemy will not seize under any circumstances. One city is Moscow. And the second city is Tsaritsyn.

Stalin understood the city in question – Stalin-grad. And Volodar continued:

- Moscow was closed. They (the Germans) can not even bomb it, although they would very much like to wipe it off the face of the earth.

First of all, from a military point of view, to capture such a city means losing a huge number of our troops. And secondly, the people of Moscow, as their capital, will persistently defend to the last bullet. Therefore, they decided to bomb Moscow, leaving only the Kremlin and Red Square, and this - is the symbol of the center of the blood supply, the heart of the whole body, that is, the state. But Tsaritsyn could not be closed, it is - a liver in a living body. This energy must be defended at all costs. If the enemy takes possession of Tsaritsyn, the war can acquire a completely different kind of reaction, other forces of darkness will come into motion, which are concentrated in the Far East.

Stalin understood what was being said: Japan has long been waiting for the opportunity to enter the war.

Volodar continued:

- Tsaritsyn stands on the river Aritsa (Volga). The water of Aritsa used to be the main and full-fledged energy of "Tsi" (Tsi - the central ringing energy). This water in its composition was completely different than now, and was an energetic repetition of the Milky Way.

But sometime, very long ago, foreigners came to the banks of this river and began to catch fish and eat it - blood was spilled, and the water in the river lost its qualities. And in general, this river almost ceased to fulfill its purpose. And sometime, very long ago, the water of this river had such an intellect that any Rusich, who had the same intellect as the water, could cross the river from one bank to another as on dry land. And nevertheless, this river today still has immense significance both for the Earth and for people.

Stalin tensed when he heard that the city bearing his name was of such great strategic importance and asked the question:

-Do they know anything about this city in Berlin?

- They know, and even very well. This war was developed and built on occult knowledge in many areas of their secret agency, Anenerbe ("The Legacy of the Ancestors"), the Order of Knights Templar. They have knowledge of the planet Earth as a living organism. They know perfectly well what Moscow is and what Tsaritsyn is - these are the two energy poles. And if you capture at least one of them and conduct an occult rite with a ritual murder and with a plentiful shedding of Slavic blood, this will be the strongest blow to the energies of the earth with the name Rus'.

Therefore, Tsaritsyn should not surrender to the enemy in no circumstances. The Germans will fight fiercely and furiously for this city - they know well what significance it has for them.

Tsaritsyn means Aritsyn. The energy of this place across the River Aritsa moves throughout the whole territory of Rus'. Once upon a time, for a long time, messengers from villages of Vedrusia - both men and women - gathered there and with special rituals the energy of the "liver" was filled with their energy. The cosmos answers for this place on Earth especially. Constellation, native in its energy, always watches so that the liver, (in Russian pechen') that is, the stove (in Russian pech) does not cool. Subsequently, when the Vedrus people lost much of themselves, when the appearance of the princes began (and this is the transition from the divine world to the demonic one), the volhvs gathered in this place - not in autumn, always in the spring. They possessed the energies of their people to the fullest. And the stove (pech) continued to keep the warmth, thus preserving its energy in the Universe. The volhvs could learn a lot here, and filled up with knowledge about possessing of the energies. All Rusichies could come to this place, but they did not come, when the volhvs were there. They used this place, because many knew - how. If you take the human body, the liver is always warmer than all other organs - in that is its great purpose. When the souls of people were filled with cold (at that time it happened during the war, when Rus' was attacked), the energy of Love, living, one can say, in the heart of a person (in the soul), was chilled and could be warmed in the liver, for the liver kept the heat. But Love did not abandon such a man, for the people were pure in their thoughts, and the liver of those people was healthy. As the body can not live without the heart, and without the liver it can not live, and these two energies are equal among themselves.

Stalingrad

*In a dashing attack the soldiers fell
For the Motherland - they have such an inheritance.
In suffering they paved the road
To victory
Out of dead bodies.
Not in a terrible dream it happened
And not in a fever delirium,
But in reality it was all,
In a harsh fierce battle.
Here the commander waved his hand,
But the bullet prevented him from getting up,
And he fell with one dream:
To get up again to get up again!*

The elite troops of the Germans took part in the capture of Stalingrad. Several times this city passed from hand to hand. The fights were fierce, and very often the descendants of Rusiches entered into hand-to-hand combat with elite German units.

While leading the battle in urban conditions the human factor, that is, personal courage and bravery, is of great importance. And the German special forces could not withstand it. They were trained in the skill of knife ownership, hand-to-hand combat techniques, and so on, but when they came face to face with the village people who were not trained in anything, simple peasants and men, and even with young girls-nurses - they lost hand-to-hand fights.

Young 18-year-old village guys who in their hands held only hayforks and cycles as weapons (of course, before the soldiers were sent to war, they were trained to fire weapons and the simplest military skills), and the order was "Not a step back!" - and these guys did not run backward, but clinging to the ground, were forging ahead.

In open battle the psyche in some cases woke up the sleeping genotype of the ancient ancestors of Rusiches - the bodies acquired colossal possibilities. Young boys, who did not have much power, killed enemy soldiers with one blow of the hand. In a fierce battle, they tore off the enemy's soldiers' hands and wrenched off their heads.

Nobody thought about life - only victory. The Germans lost such fights and ran away in wild fear. But their generals sent out new and new battalions, because this city was more important to them at that time, than Berlin.

We will describe one such combat battle in the Stalingrad events.

A young lady from Moscow - she was not yet 18 years old - after the nurse courses she got to Stalingrad with her unit.

After a hard many-hour battle, only the wounded and this girl remained in position. Her name is Maria. The wounded men groaned and asked to have a drink. The Germans shot, no one answered them - there was nobody. Maria bandaged the wounded and helped them as best she could. And suddenly she heard a German speech. Cautiously peered out the window and saw the German soldiers dashing closer to her house. She took a heavy machine PPSH, reloaded it. She somehow could use it. Her hands shook with fear. And at this moment, this girl, just a child, looked at the wounded. They were lying and groaning, they were completely helpless. And the great instinct of the mother has awakened in this girl. Fear has disappeared, the thought has become clear and bright. She easily lifted the submachine gun and led the battle. Her short bursts hit the target. The Germans lay down and started throwing grenades. One grenade with a long handle fell at her feet. She quietly and quickly picked it up and threw it back.

Maria reloaded the machine, it was hot. Two Germans jumped into the window. In a short burst she cut them off. There are two more soldiers. One of them she killed from the machine gun. She ran out of ammunition, she pulled out a bayonet knife from the boot top. The German saw that there was no weapon. What can this girl do to him, a professional? Coming closer, he shot her in the chest with a pistol - the bullet passed next to the heart. But the descendant of her great ancestors the Rusiches - Maria - did not feel it. This thin, fragile girl could not abandon the wounded and leave them to be torn by the enemy, and, overcoming the inner horror, thereby raised her psychic energy to the highest point - her body had a colossal cosmic power. In two jumps she was next to the German and she pierced her bayonet-knife to the very hilt into the invader.

Maria died, but she did not abandon the wounded soldiers, she fulfilled her duty to the end. Such feats of Russian girls were a great number in the war.

For life

(dedicated to Maria and to such women and girls who defended us during the Great Patriotic War)

*You will not walk in the spring time,
You will not weave a wreath, dreaming of a groom,
A motherland you covered with yourself,
Giving up a maiden chest to bullets.
A girl in her seventeen years
Did not know the joy of life yet,
She broke the plea of her mother:
"Daughter, you come back alive!"
Scared, she was very scared in the battle,
And the hot lead destroys the souls.
Death was mowing with a sharp cycle,
It took the young and very best.
She saw how a young soldier
With huge blue eyes
In his last, most terrible hour
Fought not with people, but with ghouls.
And in her tear-stained eyes
The ancient song reflected.
She violated motherly mandate:
"Forgive me, I will not return alive!"
And she does not need beautiful words,
And she does not need honor and glory,
As long as stays alive*

That soldier with huge blue eyes ...

It is not by accident that we talk about the psychic energy of people, about its highest emotional surge. Because namely thanks to this energy, Rus' led an invisible battle with the occult forces of the enemy. And this battle was quite successful. If this energy was not enough, what the enemy hoped for, the picture of the war, taking place on Earth, would look different. Therefore, stories of individual feats of soldiers (such as, for example, the feat of Alexander Matrosov) spread throughout all military units, and soldiers many times during the battles repeated it.

There was one more case. The Germans drove Soviet troops to the very bank of the Volga River - a hundred meters to the edge of the water. Russian soldiers, perishing by the thousands, but have sustained this strip of land. Night has come. And if they do not expand their bridgehead now, tomorrow they can be thrown into the river. Aviation from the Germans dominated the sky of Stalingrad.

A group of people arrived at the intelligence headquarters of Stalingrad - twelve men. They did not have any fire-arms, each had two knives. The senior of the group - was an elderly Don Cossack, and the rest were all Cossacks from the Don and from the Terek. These people possessed the ancient art of hand-to-hand combat (contactless combat), which was passed on from generation to generation. These people were called plastemen. Once upon a time, very long ago, their ancestors knew how to use their psychic energy, understood its meaning and purpose and knew how to influence the enemy at a distance.

The fact is, that in the Stalingrad battle seventy percent of the fighting took place in hand-to-hand clashes. All fighters had bayonet knives, in one word, cold weapons. These plastemen faced the most difficult task: it was necessary during the night to liberate as much of the territory occupied by the enemy.

It got dark. The plastemen on boats began to cross the river. The most difficult thing for the plastemen in this task, was the night time - the enemy is not visible, it is better, when the target is visible. But these plastemen had great abilities. The boats reached the shore, they were expected there. They were showed exactly where our positions end and where the enemy starts. Here, too, was the accumulation of fighters who were good with knives and who knew how to fight hand-to-hand. The Germans also had well-trained soldiers who perfectly mastered close combat, including the intelligence divisions of the Abvera - they were real thugs, the professionals of their business.

The plastemen conferred among themselves and crawled towards the positions of the Germans. There should not be a single shot. It is not an easy task - to achieve the advanced positions of the enemy. Lighting rockets now and then flew up into the sky, it was like day. Nevertheless, the Cossacks, dressed in their camouflage uniforms, managed to reach the first ranks of the captors. Egorych - that was the name of the elderly Cossack - when the flare-up rocket flashed once again, he saw two Germans in front of him in ten steps: one was facing him, and the other sideways, they were talking about something, faces were tense. The Germans were ready for anything, they were expecting an attack - they were already used to night battles. The Russians were desperate to the point of madness: they died, but did not go back. And the elite SS and abverov reconnaissance-sabotage groups - their soldiers - were killed by the thousands, but they could not help it.

Yegorych crawled very close - three meters separated him from the Germans' trench. And here the following happened: the German, who was sitting facing Egorych, suddenly bumped his head in the ground and froze, the second German threw his submachine gun to the side. In two jumps Egorych was next to the Germans in the trenches, the knife went into use. This knife was left to him from his father, the blade was of a dark color, never rusted or got dull - it was an old knife of plastemen. In the trench, another Cossack-plastman - a young fellow Sashka - climbed after him-well, not that young, but he was not thirty years old yet. Egorych ordered: "You go in this trench, clean it off, and I'll go to the next."

All twelve plastemen dispersed and wiped the territory from the invaders. A dangerous, difficult business for them, you can perish any second. The invaders are on the alert - elite German thugs. Sashka took several steps along the German trench, in front of him sat Germans - five people, one of them stood and peered towards the Russian positions. The Cossack gripped tightly the handle of his knife, but it is not the knife was the main weapon of the plastman, but his psychic energy. Since childhood, his grandfather taught him to use the inner abilities of man. Sometimes, even blood ran from the nose, and then the grandfather let go of Sashka and did not touch him for several days. But all the same he liked the lessons with his grandfather, his grandfather knew many stories and told them with pleasure. Sashka also wanted to become a fighting Cossack, and not just anyone, but a plastman is the elite of the Cossack troops: where ordinary Cossacks can not do anything - plastemen can do everything. And now there were five people in front of him; if it were at least three - it would be easy to destroy them, but there are five. But there is no other option.

With an energy strike he threw two Germans to the ground, two more turned their backs to him. The one that stood - did not understand anything, he saw Sashka and looked at him. From the blow of the knife, the fascist fell dead. All this happened within a few seconds, two more capturers were killed. Those two who were knocked down by the energy strike, sat and looked at each other in utter confusion and even panic. And these two soldiers were destroyed also. Since recent times, Cossack Sashka had no more kindness, anger, pity, or aggression in his soul. There was coldness in the chest and complete indifference to one's own life. He saw, with his own eyes, he saw a young mother, who was lying on the ground, killed by the invaders, and next to her two tothree year-old children - a boy and a girl, and they cried because their mother no longer hears them, she does not press them to herself - she just lies there and is silent. They still did not understand that they did not have a mother any more. He saw the bodies of children and women torn by the shell fragments. He saw the body of a child of about five, almost half-cut by a machine gun burst. How could this German gunner shoot at the child?

And Sashka's heart broke, and the soul was enveloped by the cold, and he continued to live only for one reason: to cleanse the Russian land from these misanthrope-mongers and real ghouls, and he will tear these non-people with his teeth, but will cleanse his land from this nastiness, will do everything to prevent this from happening again.

Sashka did not have any children yet, he was not able to create a family - he did not meet the one, to whom he would have been called to with his soul, and therefore lived alone. But he was already thinking about it, and would marry, but the war prevented him. Cossacks had no time to heal the wounds after the civil war, and then a new war. The Cossacks have their own accounts with the Soviet authorities: the Bolsheviks brought much suffering and death to them. Not all the Cossacks began to defend Soviet power. And he - Sashka - knew what he was doing and why, his grandfather told him a lot: "Russia," he said, "but correctly called Rus' is our home, and we have no other home. Different people come to this home and, for example, say that it's wrong to live like you are living: it's necessary to throw off the tsar, and you will then live in your pleasure, you will be free, and all will belong to you. And many believed it. And what happened? Complete disruption, hunger and brother-killing. Now others have come: they do not say anything, but everyone who lives in the house they began to kill. They want to take our house, and destroy the inhabitants. Take care, Sashka, of Rus' - your home - more than your own life, do not listen to anyone, and then your soul will be eternal, for your Kin will support you. "

Sashka remembered the order of his grandfather and was not afraid of his own death. But when he saw the death of children and mothers, his heart was filled with unbearable pain, it was so fettered that he could not restrain himself and he groaned.

One more enemy machine gun nest is done with. Behind him he heard a whisper - this was t another plastman Gregory, who came to his aid. It will be easier for the two of them to manage with the enemy.

Plast members dispersed along the front lines, each in their own sector. While there were no shots, it means that the Cossacks are coping with their task – not a simple task. But is it easy in war? Death waits for everyone at any second. Following the plastemen, the penalty battalions, led by experienced scouts, will be dispersed into the liberated trenches. In the morning the fascists would bring such a flurry of fire to these positions, that all these people will perish, and they will be the soldiers from the penalty battalions. But the penalty crew did not think about life, they were not traitors, they understood everything, and they will fight desperately for their Russian land and for their families. Seven troubles - one answer. (a Russian saying)

Before the transfer to the right bank, the penalty crew was talked to, explaining the task. Among the penalty crews there was still a very young soldier. He looked about sixteen, but he said he was already eighteen. He was blond and puny, his name was Ivan. They asked him:

"Do you know how to use a knife?"

- Are the penalty members ever given other weapons? - Asked Ivan in turn.

The soldiers who were sitting around did not laugh, but looked at each other sadly. Each of them understood that the clock is measured for them to live. But for some reason everyone began to feel sorry for this fellow.

- How did you get into the penalty battalion? - They asked him.

- We were heavily bombed by German aircraft," Ivan muttered. - So they bombed such, that the ground went wobbly. I lost consciousness. When I came around, it was quiet, only the head was buzzing, and the eyes could not see anything – the sand had covered the eye. Gradually I came around, wiped my eyes, looked around. There are no commanders, weapons, too, what to do - I do not know, but my head aches. Then others began to come around, whoever was alive, began to help the wounded – bandage them up. We built the stretchers for the wounded, who could not go on their own, and went to our own people, to get the wounded to the medical battalion, and to get weapons for ourselves - ours almost all went out of action after the bombing. We had nurses - two young girls, they were killed. Well, in general, here we are walking, and here the muzzles with automatic rifles come out of the bushes: "You, - they say, - left your positions on your own. You are going under the tribunal. " And there no one took the time to get into the details. And that's all. I volunteered for the front. And I'm not a coward at all, we were just confused, we went to our own, so that we could take the weapons and go on fighting. And the wounded people were bleeding and dying from their wounds. But it turns out, it was necessary to sit there and wait for our deaths.

And suddenly Vanya got up, he was short, and his voice was not loud. Eyes burned with fire - not anger and resentment, but a fire of justice.

- I am protecting my mother and my younger sister, and our whole village. And also I'm defending my girlfriend, I love her, she does not even know about it, and now she will never know. And I want to live, I so want to live! But I will not be disgraced, and I understand my duty as a soldier. And tomorrow I will give my life dearly.

And this simple Russian boy looked confidently and boldly. And it was clear: this one will not fail. It's getting light. The Germans, having understood, what was going on, have opened a furious fire from all kinds of the weapon. Ivan crawled on enemy positions along with others - no one thought to turn back. In his hand he was clutching a bayonet knife. "At least on of them I hope I will kill," - thought Vanya. In him there was no confusion - he knew what to do. There was a fervor and a desire to fight.

They were in a ruined house. It was clear where the Fritzes shot from. "Oh, how I wish I had a few grenades!" But they only had knives. And Vanya rushed to the near by German, and in the last seconds of his life he shouted the most dearest word for every person, this word is - Mama! And in this word the whole meaning of life, all the most sacred dreams and all of Vaya's love united for him.

The fascist managed to shoot at Ivan - he felt, as a hot metal digs into his body. Ivan in the last desperate jump knocked down the fritz - he remembered, how he was taught to use a knife. The enemy soldier jerked in deathly convulsions, and Vanya, meanwhile, thought: "Forgive me, Mamma! Forgive me, my love! I did everything I could ... ".

Penalty Battalions

*Penal Battalions -
Soldiers-penalty fighters -
What are you dreaming of at night
In the icy steppe?
Or maybe you do not sleep
And you remembered you home,
And tomorrow they said go to battle -
To your last fight.
And you want to exclaim:
"It's not my fault!",
And I was not scared,
Oh no, I was not scared,
I was just confused.
You, Motherland, forgive me!
And tomorrow with my whole body
I'll fall on bullets,
And in the native countryside
Let the graves not be.*

Energy matrix of occult forces

Let us continue the story of Stalin's meeting with the old man.

Volodar continued:

- If the Nazis capture Tsaritsyn (Volgograd), then their psychics and Tibetan dedicated monks (llamas) will easily find in this place the central energy emanating from the Earth, and, waiting for the time when the twelve constellations symbolizing animals will create a certain figure - thereby creating sufficient energy for them to perform an occult ritual.

Stalin asked:

"You mean the signs of the zodiac?"

- Yes, the zodiac circle, which the forces of destruction use in the life of peoples. The life of the White Veds is associated with the life of another cosmic family, and Rus' never used the zodiacal circle invented by the priests. How can a divine person create an image of an animal in outer space? This deprives the person of his energies. But dark ignorant people succumbed to the tricks of the priests, who created occult horoscopes and thereby lowered mankind to the energetic state of animals. And the person considers himself not the child of God, but the animals under the constellation of which he was allegedly born. So, knowing the knowledge of cosmic worlds, the priests, that came into dispute with God, deprived peoples of their own energies. The Veds have their energy in the cosmos, it is not connected with animals. And Christianity, which was introduced by force in Rus', was based entirely on the horoscopes of the zodiac. And even the ninth plane, created by God, was called "Big Dipper", and the central axis of the galaxy was called "Little Dipper". And among the Vedrussians - as our people are called - there are in their cosmos, their own planetary complexes, invisible from the Earth stars as well. Planet Arnada - you call it Sirius - always served the Veds, and namely this is its purpose. And the constellation that the dark force called the constellation of dogs, thus the divine energy tends to be stained with energy of animals (mutants) not God created. And our ancestors always called it - the constellation of Arizh (Arizh - the living Eternity of Light). And there is a living energetic flesh (constellation), which is kept by stars located all thorough out the sky, and therefore no one will ever consider this constellation as such, but it completely controls the cosmic parade of planets. And we call it Arida (Arida is the eternal light of truth). But the Vedruss people "fell asleep", and this constellation seemed to fall asleep. But namely it protects this dream and will not allow the death of our people. As the people awaken, the constellation Arida will also come into movement. Stalin listened to Volodar attentively and yet could not help asking:

- Can you talk more about the psychic energy of people?

The old man took a few light steps around the room and began his story:

- There is a physical body of a person - it is visible, it can be touched, and there is an unseen human body - psycho-emotional. Two of these bodies are equal to each other, one can not call any of them more important. The psychic energy of people lives in an energetic unmanifested world, this energy has tremendous possibilities. And when soldiers overcome the energy of self-preservation during a battle, you call it fear, and they fight, no longer thinking about their own life - just at this moment a powerful bundle of psychic energy rises into the energetic layer of the cosmos. This energy is purposeful. Just as a soldier deliberately destroys an enemy - he defends his Motherland, so his psychic energy also attacks energies of the enemy. And in space in certain layers, there are energetic battles. The first serious signal for enemy occult forces was the Brest Fortress. They realized, that the Russian people have not lost their spiritual connection with their land, you call it - a sense of patriotism. So, their strongest psychics were very serious about this event. They could not oppose such energy, such energy is stronger than the meditations of Tibetan monks, incommensurably stronger. The fact is that the enemy troops in front of every serious military operation with the help, mainly of Tibetan monks, create a meditative energy space. Such territories have already been energetically conquered, a victory has already been won on a subtle plane - what remains is to repeat this in the manifested world, that is, to bring in troops and conduct military operations, and they will be successful. But the occult forces did not expect that the defenders would have such a large amount of psychic energy (patriotic), which has the ability to destroy and break their astral fields. After all, in this war people are involved who have knowledge of energy structures and complexes: the Earth itself, the common fields, that is, the energy structures of Rus', the energy structures of their own; horoscopes are used, horomagic and so on, occult signs, graphic symbols, handwritten symbols and artistic symbols are used.

After a short pause, Volodar continued:

- The beginning of the war - June 22. You already know the symbolic meaning of this date. They also use Kolovrat's cosmic energies in the form of a swastika image in their heraldry: the direction of the swastika rays shows the direction of rotation of the swastika, for them it displays the earthly direction. This indicates that they have the main intention - to control the manifested world, as if without violating the harmony, as they believe, they are capable of showing to the people who have gone astray the true path. And in this they see that their mission is cosmic. They use the sign of the Kolovrat in its graphic representation, which symbolizes the earthly manifested life. This is of great importance for them, and they are pursued by two main goals: the first - "we are representatives of the forces of light, we guide harmony in the world of Yav'," the second goal is "let all the people of the Earth associate this sign with violence, suffering and wars." It would seem that one goal hinders the other, but in fact, it does not. Their astral science is digging deeply: they have approached the understanding of the universe, and they have managed to use the worlds of invisible energies for their own purposes. They were confident of victory, otherwise they would not begin the war. In the future, when all Europe, Asia and both the Easts (the Far East and the Middle East) will be captured by troops under the swastika sign, as they plan, when there will be discontent among the people from the new order - there will be a reassessment of life priorities; the swastika (the Kolovrat) will be discredited as a sign bearing suffering, and a five-pointed star will be approved, as well as a hexagonal star, and this will mean - the loss of terrestrial energies, which means bad harvests, cataclysms, extinction of peoples. But namely this is what is being pursued by these forces (the priests).

Stalin, sitting without movement in his chair, suddenly stirred and said:

- But in the Soviet Union the main symbol - is a five-pointed star.

Stalin was perplexed and looked at the old man.

-Precisely," Volodar answered. - And this is also used by them. In the future, when the Kolovrat is defiled, it is easy to return the five-pointed star against the six-pointed star, and a sign like this will symbolize that the peoples are enslaved by a double cabalistic structure. There is occult knowledge, and it is used by those forces. And they will create their new sciences, and will teach them in schools. The concepts of "motherland", "kin" will be gradually erased. These words will take on a abusive meaning and will be removed from the language. But this is not the most important thing. It is important for them to cross different peoples among each other. The psychic energy of all peoples is different, when mixing takes place there is an imbalance in nature and a general weakening of the energies of the Earth. Just as the trees, flowers, insects and animals should not be interbred (cloned) – the same way the mixing of people's bloods should not be allowed, otherwise the harmony of terrestrial and cosmic energies (that is, God-crafted) is disrupted. Although this divine rule will also be defiled and called - Nazism, fascism, chauvinism. Thus, divine harmony will be abolished, and in its place will come a demonic world order: depersonalized, exsanguinate, averaged, devoid of divine energies. And if people cease to be creators in the likeness of their Father-God, it means - the creations of God are not perfect, and God is not perfect. This is the goal pursued by those who have drawn peoples into their games. But let's go back to today's events.

Stalin, after a pause, spoke:

- The war is in the fourth month, we are suffering great losses, our marshals and generals were not prepared.

The elder said:

The Russian people will win. And it is a great pity, that not because of the skillful actions of the military leaders, but in spite of their inability and erroneous actions. How much Russian blood will spill! But there's nothing to be done.

- You talked about the heart and liver, and where is the head – where is that place, with which you can think - the brain? Asked Stalin.

- Probably, in Leningrad - the former Petersburg? But the elder shook his head:

- No. In this case, the brains can not be linked to the city. Brains - it is an energy that lives in the flesh of the Earth, as well as in the energies of people, "Volodar explained. - The city of Petersburg was created as a window for the forces of destruction, and they, through this window, penetrated into Rus' in the form of so-called scientific (technocratic) development as in the Western countries. Of course, before that, Rus' was being filled with foreign knowledge, but insignificantly. And when this city was built - a quick demonization of the country began. The capital was moved to this city: on an energetic level, there was an outflow of energies (blood) from the heart (from Moscow). Rus' suffered a severe energy loss. The city of St. Petersburg is built on such a place, where the energy does not pulsate from the Earth, but, on the contrary, is absorbed into the Earth. The bypass channels are deployed in such a way that the water moving along them creates not a balance, but, on the contrary, disrupts the energy structure of the Earth. There is a second name for St. Petersburg; Northern Palmyra - it is contained in the secret of occult forces in the face of the Masonic lodge of the Order of the Jesuits. Palmyra - means the palm of primacy. This is really a serious victory for the dark forces. The city by itself can live, but there is a lot of symbolism of those forces. The occult magic of Germany, will certainly not immediately capture this city- they will try to first incinerate it. In the physical world, this will look like a siege of the city: the cessation of the entry into the city of any energy, including food, that will cause the terrible death of people from hunger. There is a cosmic and energetic explanation to that: it was here (in this city) that occult plans were made and created to destroy the Russian people with the help of an artificially created famine. And the starving death of the inhabitants of this city neutralizes this black energy that has accumulated over Leningrad. In here there are the far-reaching plans of those forces.

Volodar did not know that Leningrad had already been surrounded and a blockade had begun. Residents of the besieged Leningrad, who did not know about the magical deeds of the dark forces, we will bow to them with all of Russia! Their feat, their heroism and endurance exceeded the plan and burned most of the energetic matrix of the occult forces of Germany, and not just the black energies of their city. That's how Rus; created a victory in the cosmic energetic layers of the matrix field structures created to destroy the energies of Rus', the forces of creation and eternal life.

- The whole depth, the whole essence of the divine world order, and hence the mastery of energies and their use, are searched in Tibet. But in fact, the unusual energies, creating ones, which have the power incomparable in relation to another earthly life, are not only in Tibet, but also, for example, in Siberia. And I find it difficult to say what is more important - Tibet or Siberia. I do not possess such deep knowledge of the comprehensive life of our planet. But there are lakes in Siberia, in which the water is a rational conductor of God's thoughts with all that, that he created with his thought. In other words, it was namely with this water that God created the manifested world. Of course, this water significantly changes its capabilities when it comes into contact with divine energy. Water in these lakes can convey its essence to man. But, unfortunately, today's man represents a spoiled water, it is not creative, and therefore it is impossible for him to use the water of these lakes.

Volodar did not hide the location of these lakes: it is near the city of Omsk.

Stalin's conversation with Volodar continued for a long time. Another important topic was touched upon in their conversation: Volodar persistently advised Stalin to awaken the genetic code of self-preservation of the Russian people. Subsequently, Stalin changed the Bolshevik slogans to those connected with Russia's past and Russians, used the former authority of the Tsar's commanders, the knyaz'-generals, returned the epaulettes and the guard. This action at that time caused a great wave of discontent among those, who furiously hated the tsarist golden wagonists. And in general, such actions of the communist leader could be interpreted as a betrayal of the revolutionary gains of Soviet power. But Stalin, despite everything, tried in every possible way to awaken the genetic code of self-preservation of the Russian people. He was explained, that if the Russian people understand at the genetic level, that they are threatened with complete destruction - the Russians will find the strength and skill within themselves and will break the backbone of any enemy, which is exactly what happened at the cost of their incredible efforts and sacrifices.

Once, in a conversation with Stalin, the American ambassador expressed his deep admiration for the courage and perseverance of the Russian soldiers, to which Stalin very sincerely and frankly replied: "Do you think they are fighting for Soviet power? No, they are protecting their Mother-Russia. "

*Our battalion rose to attack,
Our battalion does not seem to live,
Around me running friends soldiers,
And I felt that I was leaving into flight.
Could we really get to that end?
And if we reach it, we will live,
But the machine gun did not let us into the gates of heaven,
And we consider life as heaven.
But lucky, we were lucky - we reached it,
And now their machine gun has died down,
Everything turned out - everything you dreamed about,
And I felt that I was leaving into flight.
And I remember my dear mother,
And I remember the love of a girl,
But we can not go there - I'm at the forefront,
And I'll fight for my homeland.
I hold my submachine gun in my hands to the pain -
It is more dear to me than anything else right now,
And I pray that I have enough will,
To celebrate tomorrow success together.
We rush into the attack again in the morning,
And a rush of bullets will meet us,
In a hot dream, the soldiers run,
And I felt that I was leaving into flight ...*

From the author

I watched Victor Pravduk's documentary "World War II: Day by Day". The documentary's images replace each other: the first weeks of the war were going on, whole armies were caught in the enemy's captivity. And now they are showing a close-up of Soviet captives, one of them turns his head towards the operator, and I met a glance with that soldier. It was a Russian guy of no more than thirty years. His look was of such a deep suffering, confusion, pain, despair, such regret that he so poorly fell into captivity, before he had time to do anything - he could not protect his homeland. This look with such force burned my soul, that the tears came, severe pain and incomprehensible shame and pity pinned my heart.

I went out into the street, trying to forget what had happened to me. But weeks went on, and I increasingly began to remember this look, those eyes, and could not understand in any way, why did the face of this soldier not give me rest. And the understanding of this happened later, very quickly, within a few seconds: these eyes reflected the pain and suffering of my Motherland, my people. And I - a Russian man - experienced the suffering of my Earth, of course, a little bit of it, a small part. If it were more, I would not have pulled through this, I would have burnt. But this pain did not cut me down psychologically, it did not break me mentally, but on the contrary - there was more inner strength, clarity and confidence that Russia has a life-force and incredible possibilities. And this power and these unique abilities live in us, for Earth and Man - are a single organism, even physically we are one.

I realized that our Russia is recovering. And do you know why? Because we have people who can plant a tree for others, they can plant a whole fruit orchard for others. Even no one will know who planted the orchard - it's just these people want the orchards to blossom on the Earth. Biological robots will turn a finger at the temple and say that it is not productive, that the earth is a means for earning money. And here I want to scream: Mother Earth, do not worry, we have those who are capable of love! To love without mercy and, I would say, even selflessly. " And you, Russian soldier, know: your eyes touched my heart, the torment of your soul, your physical suffering with fire like heat pierced me. And I'm screaming through the years, through tens of years: "Soldier, your life has not gone in vain, it has not gone ineptly! You, a stranger to me, turned out to be so dear to me. No, not in vein you took on the misery and suffering, and you were not a coward and a mediocre soldier - you were overtaken by a tragedy, the general tragedy of my people. And I'll tell you this: I will do everything so that pain and suffering will never again be reflected in the faces of people, but a joyful smile always reverberates, and there was a loud laughter. And I promise you, unfamiliar soldier, that I will do everything for this, that I can! "

I wrote about the soldier, and somehow it became easier for me, I do not know why myself. And I remembered the words of Father Nail: "Do you know why birds fly? Birds fly because they are never attracted by perishable, by the grounded. And if she does not take off, then she is no longer a bird. " And he who is born to crawl - let him crawl, but he who is born for flying – he has to and even must fly!

Mama, I'm alive!

*The mother kneels and prays,
She asks for a son's protection.
He went to fight for our country,
And today in the battle was killed.
And recently he had dreamed of life,*

*And recently he was also in love,
And today in the battle he shouted "Mama!"
And he wanted the world to be saved.
He fell, did not stumble - he fell from the bullet,
And his eyes rolled to the sky,
He whispered her name, and even cried,
The tears in the big sky had reflected.
All your pain and loss were reflected,
Love and hope were reflected.
And a dream, like a bird, flew up to the heaven
And it sounds, it sounds, your song
"Do not cry, my mother! I'm not killed yet
And am not yet covered by moist earth,
I am still full of strength and spirit of soldiers.
Be proud, be proud of your son! "
No, the soldier did not die, the star did not die out -
The mother's heart is immortal.
And the mother saw her son's living eyes,
And she whispered: "Thank you! Thank you!"*

PART 2

The Fifth lake

The occult secret special services of world powers - bioenergetics, psychics, sorcerers of all stripes, shamans - were looking for cosmic knowledge in Tibet. They called it the mysterious word "Shamballa". They thought, and now think that this is a city where enlightened people live, and knowledge is stored there. But there is no such thing there. In fact, the word shamballa stands for the bright path of man – namely the bright, because paths can be different. And what is a bright way? This does not mean that you need to go somewhere in foreign, remote and incomprehensible lands and countries, but it means loving your land, your ancestral roots. Your happy family - this is your very bright path.

But not only the enemies of the USSR were looking for shamballa. And the Soviet Union itself, its secret special services - roughly equal in strength psychics, shamans, bioenergetics - were looking for knowledge in Tibet, but not only in Tibet, but also in Siberia. For example, one of the places where the expedition of the secret sciences of the NKVD was sent - Omsk Region, Okunyovo Village, Lake Okunyovo.

The water in this lake has a unique power because there is a contact between two worlds, more precisely, two energy complexes: thoughts, produced by divine people (ie, not degraded people) and the thoughts of God himself. Of course, such complexes are present in the Universe, but the Earth - is an integral part of the Universe. There are several such places on the planet Earth, but here we will tell about the Okunyovo phenomenon.

Pathogenic bacteria do not live in this water, this water positively affects the human body, and this is a good indicator in terms of energy. This water even restores the subtle plane of man - his invisible body. In total there are four unique lakes. Each lake has its own characteristics. We already said earlier that water has intelligence, the mind - it is reasonable. Each lake fulfills its unique task. The water of these four lakes keeps the Divine creative essence within itself.

The essence - is a living, wise energy. And stateliness - is the materialized energy.

They are looking for the fifth phenomenal lake. But they will never find it. Energetically it is highlighted, but it is not a lake, it is - the presence of divine energies. In fact, such a fifth element or lake is MAN.

Remember, the four elements: earth, air, water and the living energy of the sun in the form of light and heat (it is confused with fire). The fifth element can not be determined, or considered that it simply does not exist. But it does exist. It is - Man. A man who has not lost divine abilities - he harmonizes among themselves these four living energies, or elements. The word Slav means - the one merging, connecting these energies into a single harmony. And there is the same thing: the fifth lake is Man who has not lost divine abilities.

People come to Okunyovo and say that there was a temple of extraordinary beauty. They think, that this temple was made of stone or wooden walls, gold, silver, emeralds, etc. But the divine man will never create demonic ugly structures, torment the flesh of the Earth and disfigure its image in this way. Planet Earth and the whole Universe - is the true temple for the true Man. In fact, the truly extraordinary beautiful temple is Man himself. The only temple God created, no one could create, more beautiful and more wonderful than this temple, namely, his child - Man. An expedition was sent to Omsk Region mainly for drawing up a topographic map of the area, as they dubbed it the Okunyovo-Danilov Triangle. The word "triangle" of special services borrowed from the Bermuda Triangle, for by their energies and by other signs these two terrains on Earth are similar to each other. In both places there can appear brightly pronounced holograms.

The expedition compiled a map of the area and carried out some studies - they were interested in the quality of the water. That's when two more lakes with a strong bactericidal effect were identified. The following year, a second expedition was sent, reinforced with psychics, bioenergetics, shamans. There were two shamans: a man and a woman, they played the main role in that expedition.

The male shaman in the dark, evening time of the day, when they were on the lake Danilovo, took his wooden vessel, scooped some water from the lake, then poured there his drink. Preparation of that drink was passed on in strict secret within this Kin. Before combining these two fluids, the shaman performed a ritual dance with a prayer-spell under the musical accompaniment of a tambourine. When these two liquids joined up - a boiling began, a hissing sound was heard, splashes began to pop out of the cup. Everyone looked at the shaman in fascination: the liquid was boiling, and at that moment he drank it. His eyes were rounded and began to glow with different light shades. A few more minutes passed. Through the shaman's clothes, everyone saw the same light - he pulsed; there was no violet color, blue and light blue predominated, at the bottom near the legs - red, turning yellow to the top. People were overcome with fear, they thought, that this person would be burned up. But there was no smell of smoke, there was a faint smell of sulfur. After this, this man began to rise into the air. The glow was smaller, but it was still visible. At a distance of three meters from the ground, he hovered, and the people watching him saw a vision. It was unusual and even shocking. The shaman seemed to split into four parts: legs apart, hands apart, head separately, body-apart. All this began to rotate counterclockwise. Then a screen measuring one and a half to two meters in size was formed - a square without sharp corners. All the members of the expedition saw that there, with a very beautiful connecting lines, in modern letters, it was written:

"Knock and it shall be opened, seek and you shall find. But are you knocking at right doors? And will you find what you need?"

After a minute the words disappeared and new ones appeared:

"Love – it is not a feeling, but a living measure of your life"

The words disappeared, others appeared:

"If you preserve your people – you will preserve the Earth. 1941-1945 - this is not a trial and not a punishment, it is - the distribution of debts, not of yours. "

The words disappeared, others appeared. But people lay in a deep faint and could not read what was written there. And the following was written:

"Seeking Eternity in matter, you will find emptiness, for Eternity - is in aspiration. Water does not quench the thirst - water quenches the flesh. In the great creation you shall quench your thirst, for creativity - is the lot of God's children, but the true creation is not born from matter. " But these words were no longer seen by the expedition members.

The shaman gently dropped to the ground and, spreading himself, slept. His skin brightened, his hair stood on end, like rigid needles. When he wakes up, he will not remember anything, but his face will radiate goodness.

And what really happened? The channel was opened (energy was manifested) through the person (that is, the fifth element): the energies were connected and the information came through in the form of words. From whom - it is another matter.

After waking up, the shaman drank water for a long time - the body lost a lot of moisture.

Waking up, the participants of the expedition could not insist on what had happened to them.

The whole day they were in a languid, morbid state, they used instruments to measure their pressure - the devices refused to work. Their bodies gradually switched to the usual energy of the Earth.

Everything that happened to these people in the evening - is nothing more, than their visit of the un-materialized world of Prav' (Truth) – namely of Prav', for it is a pure God-power. There is also an un-materialized world called Nav', where inferno beings (essences) live, there live bad thoughts and energies of people (aggression, anger, resentment, envy, cruelty, greed, deceit, pride), and these essences feed on the bad thoughts and energies of people. Conversely, good thoughts and energies of people fill the Nav' world and weaken these essences, and then they perish. The less of these entities, the better the life of people. We will clarify: the world of Nav' existed from the beginning, like the world of Prav' - there lived only pure light energies, for the world was divine, bright. When the degradation of people on Earth began - Nav' began to fill with dark thoughts and destructive energies of people.

In the evening, when the expedition members felt better, they felt more confident, the shaman woman walked into the lake Danilovo to the waist and submerged in the water. After a short time, the image (a vision) of the animal appeared from the water instead of the human form: it was a female deer, there were no horns, ears protruded. It was still light, the sunset was shining, everything was visible. After a minute, the "deer" plunged into the water, and the body of the shaman woman appeared from the water.

People on the expedition were sufficiently prepared to determine that the information fields were interacting here. How many of these fields - they did not know, but assumed that at least two. In fact, there interact the thoughts of God, the thoughts of divine people, the energy of water, the energy of space and the Earth itself, and the fifth element (that is, energy) – it is the person who unites these four energies, they begin to interact. Even an animal (for example, a cat or a dog that the owner loves) can work as a fifth element and manifest itself, coming into contact with water, as an image of a person or other animal.

Today's people have forgotten, who they are and what energy they have. The world manifested, in which man lives in the flesh, and the un-manifested world (invisible) - are in the same field, in one energetic living space. In fact, the visible world manifested is separated from the unseen undeveloped world by a subtle flout line. The visible world came from the invisible, that is, from thought.

Thought - is a living matter in which everything happens. The most solid and huge sizes of objects and the most unreal and invisible are the same - it is a thought. A human being, dew to the loss of knowledge and his abilities, looks, for example, at a tree and thinks that it is only a tree, but it can be a stone, a bush, and a blade of grass. And this is not a mental illness or a nightmarish dream - it is the depth of God's thought. A huge life potential is laid in everything that God created (the "invisibility cap" is a reality, not fiction).

What happened to the shaman who rose above the ground and seemed to split into four parts? All this happened to him on an atomic connection, at the atomic level. A person can teleport his body, that is, transfer his body to any distance, separating it into atoms. In this case, the shaman's body was separated into atoms by the invisible world of divine energies, and from this atomic clot a hologram appeared in the form of a screen on which words were written.

This is not mysticism. The fact is that the physical visible body has an invisible part where the atoms live - their reactions and their nuclei, where the molecules live - their molecular embryonic outbursts. Such outbreaks-reactions are necessary for the life of the physical body: the physical body will live as long as such outbreaks-reactions occur at the molecular level. The molecules have their own nuclei that shine, this light manifests around the body of a person. You have such a glow called an aura, that is, "not ura." Quite right: this is not the original URA, for the original is the cult-URA. After all, the Cult-URA – it is the original, divine set of rules and aspirations, thanks to which the Universe is governed by Man, who is the harmonizing link in the chain of cosmic life of all plains of being. And the culture of your ancestors guarantees this.

Dew to the loss of the cult-URA, people have lost their purpose, namely: they ceased to be a harmonizing link. To become such a harmonizing link, a person does not need some otherworldly wisdom that comes to you through so-called philosophers and through so-called academic and teachers of different times and peoples. And we tell you: a person who lives in joy every day, in a cheerful, upbeat mood - is thus a wise man.

For example, two people - a man and a woman – fell in love with each other, created a family and with flowers and trees planted their orchard, their space of love and love rejoices in their hearts. Such people already possess the wisdom of the whole Universe, for they are a harmonizing link - they fulfill their purpose, for such an act brings joy and health to the Earth itself.

If a person rejoices that he has much money, then such an act does not bring anything good for the Earth and for people, but, on the contrary, great harm and destruction for the Earth and for people. Also, different religions, teachings, wisdom keepers, the so-called teachers, philosophers lead only to the spiritual despondency of a man, to an ignorant and useless comprehension of the intellectual fabrications of these authors - hence the spiritual pain, the grief of the soul and the general despondency, for man, as energy, the world of joy and happiness, the world of flowering orchards and jubilant human hearts is nothing but only joy, joy and joy.

The energies of melancholy, grief, suffering and despondency destroy the divine world, they bring to man only illnesses of the physical body and diseases of the psyche of varying degrees.

Arkaim – a bright Eternal Unity

Arkaim is located in the southern Urals in the place of a canopy of the Ural steppes, on the plain. Ural. Ur – enlightenment, that is wisdom (or the light of wisdom), Ra – the light and warmth of the sun, L – jubilant love. Ural – the light of wisdom and all warming sunny love.

Arkaim. Ar – bright Eternity, Kaim – the future, present and past in unity. Arkaim – bright Eternal Unity.

It was build out of logs, that is from wood and sand: the logs framed the walls, and inside was poured the sand. There was several of similar cities, they had different forms, different appearance, but they were all made out of natural materials, existing on the Earth. In the rooms there were two wells: one – for the water, the other – for supplying pressurized air. A strong flow of air wasn't used for metal melting – this could have been done in any forge, - but for fusion, - connection of energies. Which energies? For example, the energy of time, which today is being divided into past, present and future, and also into years, months, days, hours, minutes, seconds. What is Arkaim – its physical building, as well as energetic filling? The thickness and the height of the walls, the dimensions of the rooms, the size and the length of the road, the direction of the kolovrat (swastika) – all of this in miniature repeats our galaxy, namely our galaxy, in which is located planet Earth.

The energy by the name of “time” flows along it trajectory and is in a closed wheel, therefor the past, present and future – it is a triunity, that is unity, one whole, and to divide this energy by the name of “time” is impossible. And nevertheless the energy “time” as a living substance may be mixed, it can be stretched or accumulated. Time can be stopped or its movement can be slowed down, and the opposite, the speed can be increased. Right now the people live, when the time's speed has been increased. This can be observed by the fast changing of technologies. It is true that people say, that time has contracted. The time is not in its usual state, it is contracted, and that is why, for example, that, which should happen in a hundred years – is happening in ten or in one year. Contraction of time did not happen by itself – it was contracted artificially, and it was contracted ten thousand years ago, including by those, who are today in the dolmens. Such cities, as Arkaim, in that place there is several of them – each of them repeats in exactness one of the galactics. All of those galactics belong to our Solar system, that is the Sun is the main and the only source of light and warmth. All of these galaxies, so to say, are related and resemble our galaxy. All of them are connected, that is have a single and the same for all fulcrum – it is the ray of the Big Kolovrat – your ancestors called this place Makosh. There are twenty two of such galaxies.

Arkaim was created by Veds, that is by vedruss (for today's person a more understood word is Ariy or Aryans).

Arkaim – it is a galaxy in miniature, created so that, the cosmic energies, including the nine planes of being, could be collected in one place (referring to – small particles of those energies). Volhvs were undergoing training here. Here colossal knowledge was being passed on not with words or script, for in such a way true knowledge is impossible to pass on – with the help of letters only headlines can be passed on, the knowledge itself is passed with the help of energetic interchanges, and Arkaim gave an opportunity to recreate all the living impulses of the Universe: the circle inside Arkaim served as a cosmic Wheel of Eternity; the rooms inside the circle served, that is reproduced galactic complexes; on the outside of the circle the all cosmic complexes were reproduced of living unseen energies.

We shall describe one of the ways of receiving knowledge in Arkaim. Volhv, who had to connect with the cosmic energies, walked out into the circle. He wore a light linen shirt to his heals. He took himself into such a state, in which he became an “energetic trap”, that is energies were drawn to him. Volhv as an energy fused with all the galactic and cosmic energies. His brian practically did not work, his memory and mind did not participate in such education, for there exists a psycho-emotional part of a person – it is this, connecting with the energetic clots of the Universe, that began to awaken its cosmic essence and substance. A person began to radiate a visible light, the temperature of the body raised to 43 degrees, sometimes to 44 in Celsius (at such a temperature a regular person dies, but volhv was in a special state, extrinsic to an earthly person). The person did not fall. Under the influence of energies he moved from left to right, or walked straight (the movement was always in the direction of the sun). Awaited was the prevailing of a purple light – it began to pulsate in the area of the head, lowered down to the shoulders, sometimes lower, and raised to the top into the cosmic space about two or three meters. This signified that the volhv has connected with the Universe and himself is a small galaxy. This allowed him to possess universal knowledge in the level of energies and to use this knowledge later on.

Those who possessed this knowledge could not convey it in words or with the help of letters. Partially they could convey this knowledge with the help of leaves from trees and grass, for this is – the living thoughts of God, having a living cosmic filling. Don't think, that the main or the only means in relating of volhvs among themselves – is a language or a script – it is a mistake. Such people could communicate among themselves, while at a distances of many thousand kilometers, similarly they easily created holograms and could see a living picture.

In the Arkaim could not be found any kind of tablature. Only today's degraded humanity, void of all the essences of divine unseen energies, considers, that inscription or all writing is an indication of a high or a low culture. In reality Arkaim itself – it is a unique construction – and is a materialized letter to its descendants.

Ancient scrips

Here we will give an example, what can be read on the found stones and clay tablets, discovered in different places on the Earth. For example, a circular disc with inscriptions was found - it was called the "Phaistos disk". Here is a translation of part of his text:

"When you walk - think about the road, not about obstacles. Eyes look around the expanse, and the nostrils breathe in smells. Not he will live on the Earth, who will be glorified, but he who will not be belittled. There is strength, and there is weakness, but what is the true power, and what is the real weakness. Life we will tor for ourselves with the help of the Tora (truth). The one, who hates (does not hide his true attitude) he loves, for not in a smile on the lips is the essence of love, but in strengthening the spirit. It's not the body that is timeless, but the love of a man for a woman, and the love of a woman for everything that belongs to her. "

Tora. To – this is, Ra - the sunlight, that is, the light of truth (the sun guarantees real life, not illusory). Tora - means truth.

The Tora is the name of the Bible of the Jewish people. In this there is nothing surprising, for the writing originally existed only in one people - the Aryan (Vedrus), and this word is borrowed from them.

What can be understood from the text of the Phaistos disk? Nothing, if you do not know the true, deep sense, these three words: tora, timelessness, love. Today's man does not know the true meaning of these words. Therefore, we tell you, that writing can only translate titles. The main essence, driving the living processes, is at the level of energies. For example, if you enter the energy field of a tree, it can tell you such deep knowledge, which the person can not even imagine. Also, with the help of their living energies, a person can enter into such cosmic layers, where there is any knowledge and any wisdom of the Universe. Such information comes to the person in the form of thoughts, as an answer to the question asked. But for this a person must return his divine abilities (lost is the Cult-URA - lost are your abilities, you have degraded).

And also, such ancient texts different people can read (decipher) completely differently, for the letters of Aryans - are not fictitious signs, but these are the genetic spirals of the Aryan (Vedrussian) people's code. The world of energies can not be perceived by the mind, and therefore it is impossible to explain why this happens.

In Arkaim, the energies of the Earth, the Sun and the Moon were united. The combination of these three energies gave the fourth energy with the name "thought of God". The energy of the "thought of God" was connected with the energy "time": when these two energies were combined, it was possible to trace what would happen on the Earth through, for example, ten thousand years or nine, eight, seven thousand years and so on, what was before: ten thousand years or one hundred thousand years ago.

How did this happen? You all know that the thought is material, and the energy of "time" is also material, although the purpose of time is somewhat different than that of the thought. The civilization of Vedrussians (or Aryans) could easily connect such energies and read life programs of people, could change these programs. Could in the form of a hologram see what was happening before, and what will happen. And they saw that in ten thousand years people are being deceived: people will forget their essence, their purpose, water and air will be poisoned, and the Earth will exude a bad smell of decay smoke and burning. But it's impossible to change bad life baldly – bad catastrophes will occur. But they saw, that the Earth without their intervention could perish, and they made a smooth transition from bad to the good – namely a smooth one. We are the White Civilization of Veds, that is Belovodie - we say to you:

"We have prescribed the life program of people on Earth and the unshakable and blooming Eternity. The thought nurtured with itself the divine living energy of "time" and produced not the time cycles of the life of the Earth and people, but a single cycle with the name Eternity. And the word, that is, the energy of HAPPINESS - is the main one, as was originally conceived by God. We returned the essence of the divine in the Wheel of Eternity. The energy of HAPPINESS will become the main one on Earth and in the Universe. Those people, who write the living energy of HAPPINESS with trees on living Earth - in their essence they are the creators of Eternity, but creators are only those who do it unselfishly, sincerely, with all their heart, for the sake of good of all. And do not forget the words of the ancestors written on the disk ("The Phaistos disk"):
"When you walk - think about the road, and not about obstacles."

The past, the present, the future – the essence is one

What is the past? It is what happened before. What is the present? This is today's life from sunrise to sunset, and again until sunrise. What is the future? This is something that has not happened yet, it will happen tomorrow, in a week, in a year and so on. But without the past there is no present, and without the present there is no future. So what is more important for today: the past or the present? If there is a present, then there is a past. And who said that the past is not the present day? And what is the future? The future – it is the guarantee of the present. If there is no future, it is foolish to think that the present exists, because the present - it is both what has already past and that which has not yet occurred.

What is time? It is the awareness of a person, multiplied by his spirit and aspirations. It is fundamentally wrong to build your life based on your calendar, which has taught people to divide life not according to the inner will of the person himself, not relying on favorable or, conversely, unfavorable weather, but relying on dates, on the clock dial and on a horoscope for animals. Do not in any case unite your life with the calendar, with the clock and with the wild horoscope, and then you will see that your present directly depends on the past, the past forms the present, and the future creates the base, provides the present day, that is, the present. And when through the calendar people were given the past separately, the present separately and the future separately - humanity thereby was deprived of logic of the cosmic essence, and the logic is in the fact that the past does not mean that it has disappeared irrevocably, but it is in fact your today, that is, the present. People treat the future, that this will happen in the coming year or the next century. But there will be no future if there is no present. Therefore, the future – it is the present. But to combine these three components of time in the cosmic sense, in the true sense - is not possible for people with technogenic thinking. The cosmos is known by the soul, the mind is only an assistant, and even that is not always, and it often harms. You need a much higher speed of thought than is in today's people.

What is the history, for example, of Russia? It is that which happened in Russia before. And if the past is distorted - then the present is distorted. If one thinks that in the past, Russian people were all alcoholics, did not have their own written language, were illiterate, lived in wild ignorant tribes, found food with difficulty, including hunting animals and eating meat, namely this would be the basis of today's life, this will be the present. Know, that alcoholics do not have a future, especially if they are illiterate, ignorant and wild, therefore, the future, that sustains the present, does not exist.

The peoples of Russia were deprived of their true life in the past – it was deliberately presented as not viable. In other words, the "History of the Russian State" guarantees the complete extinction of peoples, because the past, the present and the future are cosmic times. Time - is one energy, it can not be tore up, therefore the past, the present and the future would be more accurate to call by two words: here and now.

About Pushkin

How much could have done such a person, as Pushkin. But too brightly shone his star and for him it shined. Great meaning was given to that energy (to Pushkin) by the whole cosmos and Ninth plane of being, and with that, the powers of Light were not able to save such a person. Ahead of time the powers of destruction began to creep towards that Kin, were able to destroy that Kin, by crossing it with a foreign Kin (African).

Pushkin was born not in his time, but a whole century earlier (even more, then a century) with the program “to carry the light and spread the light through own poetry and many of own innate talents”. But to perform his great purpose he could not even by a fraction. In the percentage respect from a hundred percent – five, but better to not have performed at all, for a complete abtusity it brought and even harm. But Pushkin is not to blame for this – he did that, which he did, from all of his soul, but namely the Russian soul was missing in him. And namely this, for his mission was the most important. The genetic code of Pushkin was violated with the help of blood mixing.

Arina Rodionovna – the ancestor of this Kin on the female line – was always near him, and her great Kin was giving her information. But she could only receive, to decrypt what she heard could only the poet himself, Pushkin. And to receive he also could of, and, passing through himself, consistent with those times, in which he lived, through poetry, stories in the form of fairy tales (and not only) could have relayed knowledge of cosmic scale in a simple form. And the people could have used such knowledge in their lives, their thought gradually moving to a divine path.

It is such purpose had he, who should have been born under that star. But Pushkin was born, was born before the star, that is before his time. Arina Rodionovna tried, as best she could, but later understood, that the opposing powers were able to commit the most evil trick, and their Kin lost their destiny.

The Kin of Veds are being knocked out of their kin fields for a long time now, out of their energetic structures with the help of mixing of blood lines: that is marriage to the representatives of other people, foreign ones. It is a terrible weapon, which harms Veds (vedruss).

If you should see the needles of a pine tree on a birch, or pine cones on a palm tree and so on, then believe us: the world that creates such obscenity, is the world, that hates the divine beginning – it has doomed itself to a total destruction. Cherish the purity of your blood lines – with this you will preserve the harmony of the Earth. Each people carries out its purpose, and in this is great wisdom. Do not violate the divine balance. What the black race can do – the white race can never do, and what the yellow race can do - white race can never do. Allow the opportunity for the white race to carry out its purpose, in the same way, as any other race. You were lied to, when you were told that you had to mix.

Pushkin was born, lived and died. And what changed? Nothing. He talked a lot, but what concretely did he say? Nothing is clear, in some haze of understatement. Encrypted fairy tales and poetry of his can be decrypted differently, but in a clear way in them there is no point at all, perhaps only the beauty of the word and a poetical talent of Pushkin.

About Dostoevsky

Dostoevsky - it is a world-famous writer; his talent, his works are admired by practically the whole world. On the example of this writer, we will show you, what in fact are the works of the most famous classics.

Fyodor Mikhailovich Dostoevsky - is a man of extraordinary intellect, but with a sick wounded psyche: being convicted to be executed, he stood in front of the rifles and was waiting for death, and at that moment his whole life flashed through his head - he was thinking of his mother; he realized that the birth and life of a man on Earth - is not some ordinary thing, but this is the greatest and most beautiful mystery of the cosmic universe. The execution was canceled, he was pardoned. But Dostoevsky went through shock: he was waiting for a bullet in the forehead, and at this moment with him the strongest stress had happened (later he suffered from epilepsy). For the rest of his life he was interested in the human psyche. He did not look at life anymore, that it was the tsar, the generals, and the people he wanted to free - he realized that people's lives have a deeper, more sacred meaning. And also no less important he managed to understand: that the Earth - is not just a territory on which people live, but a living flesh, possessing intellect. And later he realized that people can not be separated from the earth. And the city – it is not the benefit of civilization, but the distortion of psychic energy and the madness of degenerates, people who fell under the satanism of God-fighters, and instead of paradise fragrant orchards they began to build a stone "paradise", deprived of living nature.

Dostoevsky wished and believed, that humanity would eventually return to earth from the cities, and then a collective understanding and prosperity would come. This is - the truth, the search for which Dostoevsky spent his whole life.

From the point of view of cosmic wisdom, Dostoevsky possesses viable energy, although his discovery at that time, lived in any peasant man - lived unconsciously, on an intuitive level. And it turns out that Dostoyevsky, with his extraordinary talent, with his deep psychic research, is no smarter or more penetrating than any peasant - the peasants, whom the enlightened nobility did not even consider as people, but the bread, grown by the peasants, was eaten daily with a large appetite and in large quantities.

We have told here about two classics of Russian literature known to you. Now turn on the logic and think: would you be able to live without them? Or would those peasants have lived without them, who were illiterate, but were able to grow a variety of food products, created strong families, gave birth to healthy children, knew a huge amount of epic tales and stories and retold them from memory. There were thousands of such fairy tales and ancient stories, and tens of thousands of songs, and millions of chastushkies. All this was transmitted from generation to generation, from mouth to mouth from memory. It says only one thing, that the mind and memory of the people has extraordinary capabilities and abilities: they did not need to write things down - they could fit it all in their heads.

And we'll tell you more: that the ancient stories (history accounts), fairy tales, songs of the people carried in themselves the true depths of wisdom not only of people and earth, but of the whole cosmic universe. And against the backdrop of this folk wisdom, the works of the most famous men of philosophy, writers, poets will look ignorant, superficial chatter of the mentally retarded and, as a rule, mentally ill people. But it is this grayness and ignorance that you move into the rank of the wisdom of the universe. But the people's wisdom and poetry were etched out of people's lives, and those tales and songs that somehow remained were changed, and their meaning changed.

A person, living on earth. will easily see the incompatibility and alienity for him of the so-called creativity of writers, poets, etc., and that which is close to his soul – does not exist. But believe me, all this lived in the depths of the people, and its knowledge was so deep that even the wisdom and absurdity of Pushkin's fairy tales (with their coded meaning), as well as other writers, did not introduce people into complete fornication mind and spiritual decay.

We are not insulting the poets and writers, but we are saying directly, that their writings create contradictions and chaos in the minds and general disharmony. Their personal lives confirm this: drunkenness, fornication, mental disorder (going crazy), dueling and suicides, but most importantly is their ignorance - detachment from the people's soul.

What is the lack of speed of thought

There is nothing more terrible for a person, if he ceases to be a man, that is, having lost the speed of thought, he loses the divine essence - in such a person, always grow the energies of destruction, that is, the demonic essence. Such people move by the order of a more sly person, who has a goal and there is a solution to this goal (or a task) - they are always listened to by the masses of people who make them their leaders. And since the dark priests lead the human community, the goals that are set before the people - always or almost always destructive, directed against God - against the Creator.

Only the return of the speed of thought will return to the people a full understanding of their true destiny. And no leader will be needed to such people, for each person will understand his true, original, divine essence.

We say all this, but we understand, that for today's people these words are just an incomprehensible philosophy. You ask a lot of questions, but are you able to accept the answer? The wise man, is the one who will be able to teach his children such that the speed of their thought will develop. This must be thought about and must be strived for. School "Happiness" solves this problem.

Humanity in the near future will meet a completely new and for today's people, completely incomprehensible phenomena that will occur on Earth. In other words, these are fundamentally new problems and tasks, and they will have to be solved in a fundamentally different way. A technocratic world with its knowledge will not be able to cope with the tasks that will face humanity in the future. School "Happiness" will help to increase the speed of thought, and people with a high speed of thought will solve such problems easily, creating a harmonious world.

How to increase the speed of thought

What is the speed of thought? This is a very vivid understanding for decades ahead and even for hundreds of years ahead of what will entail today's activities of mankind on Earth; It is when a person can easily and quickly determine whether it's divine, viable or false and unviable - that's the test with which you can determine what the speed of thought is. Or there is another example of a test for testing the speed of thought: if you can think through the whole day or half a day of your life in one second, this is the indicator of a good speed of thought.

The most important creative energy – it is thought. The power of the thought depends on the energies of man. In fact, a person must initially build his life in such a way so as to strengthen the energy of the thought all the time, that is, its speed. But the forces of destruction have so built the life of people that the most important energy - the energy of thought - has stayed on the aside, it does not develop, and humanity degrades. People are taught all the time. But it is necessary to create conditions under which a person will reveal all his possibilities. And the possibilities for him are so great, that to this to today's man with his mind all this seems fairy tail like, far-fetched and unreal.

Your child should be smarter than you. And what is this, what is needed for this? Not the study of some secret materials or knowledge, but the development of the speed of thought. In fact, man is the source of knowledge, for God is the Creator of all, and people are the children of God.

Any kind of knowledge already exists, it only needs to be taken and used as needed. And for this, in no case should one teach someone something, but it is necessary to create conditions for the development of the speed of thought.

Technogenic equipment (mobile phones, computers, etc.) should be excluded. In no case should the child be admitted to the computer (camera, etc.) We highly recommend that, before the age of 9, children be protected from invented artificial limbs. After reaching this age, you can allow children to become familiar with technogenic inventions.

Learning with the help of these primitive prosthetic devices, the child grows crazy, insane, that is, he is turned into a biological robot: the living nature is incomprehensible to him and is far away. And those, who do not understand the living nature and the Earth itself, does not understand himself: he hates the sun and says that it is hot, and when there is no sun and it rain, he says that the weather has deteriorated. Is such a person not crazy, inadequate? But these are the ones that today inhabit the Earth.

What is Happiness School?

The main purpose of the School "Happiness" is to increase the speed of thought in Man.

This School - that is, the orchards and groves, the clean air, filled with fresh aromas, nectars, clean water, the products grown by the students themselves and their parents - all this together will create the opportunity for the quickest return of people living today of sufficient speed of thought to restore harmony to the Earth. And for this it is necessary not to teach the children, but to give them the opportunity to think for themselves, themselves to solve the tasks of a cosmic scale, for each blade of grass – it is a whole living cosmic meaning lost by people.

And also, in this School such necessary energy will be developed, such as the responsibility of every student individually and all of them together: responsibility for the life of the planet, responsibility for the lives of people around them, responsibility for living nature, created by the Creator. This responsibility is implemented since childhood.

Namely with this responsibility and a sufficient speed of thought in people, can a joyous, calm, harmonious, happy, kind life return to the Earth.

Namely such people will easily eliminate any cataclysms, because they themselves will be such energy, which is called - Man, that is, the Man-Eternal (the word for man in Russian is chelovek -chelo is the body and vek is the eternity).

School "Happiness" – it is orchards, it's clean air.

Even the cedar oil, so that it possessed real strength, must be made in a virgin forest, far from cities. Feel, what tremendous meaning is given to the purity of air! Does not man, who intends to grow up with truly pure thoughts and deeds, not need clean air? This is the first.

And the orchards are needed for a faster increase in the speed of thought. Each orchard affects certain parts of the physical body and the subtle plain of man. This is the second.

Third. Every day the students will communicate with divine nature (trees, grasses, flowers, insects, etc.).

The fourth. Sleeping under the stars.

In this School, priority is given not to teaching children some kind of knowledge, although this is also the case, but mainly questions are asked to which students will respond to.

Also much attention is paid in the School to the development of the physical body, for the physical body helps the development of the person's mental energy.

School "Happiness" is really happiness and joy of EVERY day!

The importance of orchards of the School "Happiness"

Each orchard in this School is connected by energies with a complex of planets. Namely the orchard (in the form of monoculture) works, that is, it awakens and strengthens this or that energy of Man.

Orchards and groves of the Schools in the form of monocultures in outer space are nothing but a mixed forest. But namely in the cosmic space, and not on the Earth.

The goal of the School Happiness - is to increase the speed of thought in children. And the speed of thought, like living energy, can grow and grows namely in the cosmic space, with the help of the planets, with which these orchards are connected.

The word HAPPINESS, planted by cedar, strengthens and unites the energies of the orchards. And, as is known, the cedar collects cosmic energy, which the planets radiate, they accumulate it and then gives it away by destination, that is, this energy is used by people for their normal life.

Without such energy there can be ailments, weaknesses, torment of the soul, it affects the cheerfulness of the spirit and vigor of the body. Cedar can accumulate this energy. It accumulates both in the trunk itself and in each needle.

A man, living next to the cedars, has the opportunity to use the mind of the Universe (that is, the accumulated knowledge of mankind) moreover, for cedars help him in that, a person living in other conditions, especially in urban areas, where he is completely torn off from the divine influence. It is in the city that a man loses his connection with divine energies.

The word HAPPINESS, planted with cedars, will create an energy called HAPPINESS on Earth - in this space. And even in the most bitter moments and hours of life of this or that person, having entered this space, in a short time a person will feel, how in the spiritual pain, his sufferings will be weakened, confidence and calm will come, and he will see the joy and deep meaning of his later life.

Why the creation of a new settlement is better to start with the School "Happiness"

We propose the construction of a new village to begin with the creation of the School "Happiness", that is, with the planting of orchards. In 5-6 years, these orchards will bear fruit, which means they will gain full strength, and your children, who are born in your settlement, will be at that age when they can start their studies.

Your first thought when setting up a village will have the purest, most beautiful energy - the energy of Eternity, because it is initially directed towards children, to their happiness. Such a village truly does have the most pure divine energy, because it is created for the future generations that are here, and thanks to the knowledge gained in the School they will be able to recreate harmony and eternity on the Earth.

Each orchard carries its own energy. And bushes between the trees can be planted. Plant shrubs in the school "Happiness", as well as flowers. Any shrubs as your soul desires, additional trees can also be planted, but not too much, so that they do not interfere with the orchards.

Plant the orchards with love, with joy, sing a song, with kind wishes to the Earth, the sky, the sun, all people. Say it clearly, what you are doing and start planting.

Who and how will teach the children in the school "Happiness"

Let's say, it is May. The first group came to school - it's flowering orchards, meadows, grasses. The first question that the teacher will ask (the first thing the teacher does is not teach the children in the school "Happiness", but ask questions): "What is air?" - let the children think. They will approach a stream, a river, etc., the question: "what is water?", And so on: "why the grass is green?", "A flower of some color?", It is necessary to ask about trees and etc.

To an adult, such questions seem to be naive, but in fact they contain universal wisdom, because today's humanity is poisoning clean air and clean water. When the child answers these questions – they will think over them - they will never poison the air, water, destroy nature. And if you think that, again, it's stupid and naive, then it's your right. And the right of those who are going to live on the planet Earth - is to restore the purity of the Earth, its beauty, and this - is air, water, nature. Namely directing the thought in this direction, that children, growing up, will find answers, and such answers and decisions that today's scholars in comparison with these children will seem to be half-wits, and this is true.

Ask the children questions in the orchards. For example, in an apple orchard it is good to ask the question: "What is happiness?", In a pear orchard ask: "What is a song?", And in the orchards of the cherry the question "why do you want to live?" Or "on what depends life? ", and in the plum orchard - "How do you want to live and why specifically do you want to live that way?"

Sometimes the pupils will sleep under the stars in the orchards or groves of the school – where ever they want. Collective thought will be involved: before everyone falls asleep, everyone will think about the same thing. Before going to bed, ask the students a question on the topic of the stars, on the theme of trees, on the theme of grasses, etc., for example: "what is a birch for?", "what is an oak for?", spruce?"; or ask: "Why in general are the stars in the sky (or some kind of a star)?"; also ask about the grass or flowers; ask about the color, ask: "why the leaves on the trees are green (and not blue, for example)?" . Let the children think, the next day they will answer during the day (optional).

And it would be good if children, when the stars are lit, would sing songs for them, become friends with the stars. Children need to be explained this way: that the stars are alive, they hear and see the children with their special eyesight; and even explain that the stars - are planets which nourish the people with their energy - children particularly, that they need to be good friends with the stars, and then everything will turn out in their life. Ask the children to write poetry for the stars or songs. And in no case, tell the children your knowledge about the so-called constellations - they are wrong (they are invented by darkness for a full enslavement of people). Children in the school will have their own parcels of land (you can say "notebooks"), where they will learn a living letter (live writing). In this particular case, it is meant that children will plant such plants (vegetables, flowers, trees) what even they want - it is the drawing of the soul of a person, this is his inner world, he will reveal it with the help of living plants. In the future, it will play a great service for the little person, there is no point in talking about it - it will happen in the energetic body of a person on his psycho-emotional base.

A person grows, his life is built such (this was the case for the Vedrusians and even for the Rusiches a thousand years ago) that with every year his cognitive energy is activated more and more. For example, a child, starting from 5-6 years old, does not just go for walks and play, but with it a purposeful studies of volhvs (today the volhvs are replaced by adults), and the volhvs do not teach those children as much as offer to answer questions, and they conduct their activities such, where the child - while still a very small person - is constantly placed in the conditions of a completely adult person who is responsible for his family, for his settlement, for his land, for each star individually, and at the same time all of this is given to him in the form of a game. The child likes such actions, where he is the master, he is the leader, and it depends on him how this or that lesson will pass - he is not forced, but is being enticed, but this is all done such, that the child himself is the leader and mentor in those lessons.

Such a person will grow up, and, being in his 20-year-old age, he will be able to imagine not only the picture of the life of himself and his family, but of the whole planet Earth, because the speed of his thought has reached energetic complexes of the Universal wisdom: the man asked the question and received a full and intelligible answer - that's what the speed of thought is.

And do not go to your schools and your higher education institutions, because there lives your ignorance, the stupidity of what has already become a fertilizer. This knowledge destroys the world, creates a general ecological catastrophe. This is so obvious.

What is the special feature of School "Happiness"

The fact, that it gives truth to man. Namely: if it is a boy, then his main purpose - is to create a Space of Love, where his happy family will live - a harmonious, happy family ensures the continuation of the Kin; if this is a girl, then her primary purpose is, and it's the main one - is the birth of children for a happy life.

If a girl becomes a physicist, a mathematician, an economist, and a boy a surgeon or a lawyer, etc. - in this case, the family is pushed to the background. It turns out that the family - it is not the main thing, and the birth of children is a burden. Therefore, physically and psychologically sick, weak children are born.

Families are short-lived, because their true meaning is lost. The energy of lust replaces the energy of Love in the relationship between a man and a woman. For today this is the main problem in the further harmonious life of people, it needs to be solved today.

What will your children be able to do? Your children will be able to create their kin's domains - the space of Love - better than their parents. Growing up in an adult young man - that person will understand more clearly his life's meaning, it is difficult or almost impossible to deceive him; similarly for a young lady - having created a family, they will never ruin it, but will truly cherish it.

Give your children the opportunity to attend the school "Happiness" - and you will see what enormous abilities possesses man. And this is only the beginning, because the next generation will create a miracle.

The importance of trees and orchards for man

Without trees, forests, or orchards, a person's life is impossible on Earth, because the trees produce oxygen, which a person breathes. Trees also possess cosmic energy: they can heal a person from ailments, they can give a person a cheerful spirit.

Forest has an energy complex, which is called reason - it's not the mind that man has, but in the cosmic sense. In it (in the forest) there are all the nuances and subtleties of the life of the Universe and knowledge, that allow to preserve harmony on Earth and in the cosmos. For example, an oak tree – possesses kin memory (that is, the human genetic code - is the wisdom of mankind, starting from pristine origins and ending with today's day). Today's man finds it hard to believe that a tree, that is cut down for firewood can reason intelligently. But this is foreseen by the Creator: everything that God created has intelligence to one degree or another. Oak groves strengthen a person's kin memory (the genetic code of a person wakes up). That is why in the oak grove the vedruss (later they were called russiches) organized festivities, conducted dances, sang songs, rejoiced in the life of the earth and pleased the whole Universe with it.

It is said, that the Rusiches had sacred groves. But specifically, what does it mean “sacred” - no one clarifies. Anyone who imposes and attributes to Rusiches the presence of such groves, is a complete ignorance, because all this is pure occultism, and the rituals attributed to the Slavs with sacrifices - all this is from the dark, the demonic. This is a low, treacherous lie and nothing more. Never and nothing did the Slavs hide from the people in the pre-Christian period. The oak trees that grew freely, resilient to the power of the cosmos, the strength of the Universe, were not fenced off by anything, no one called them sacred, for the life of man himself and man himself, created by God, every blade of grass, brook, pebble, bird, flower, and of course Mother Earth itself - all this together can be called sacred, and even then joking and not seriously.

A harmonious man from the Kin of Veds (Vedruss), who knows the truth of the pristine origins, possessing its energy, himself was love, an open heart, pure thoughts and concealed nothing, for in the simplicity and kindness of the relations and in the sincerity of the words spoken, there was always truth.

Earth and Man.

Connection between man and earth. The joyful state of the soul and a healthy body directly depends on the attitude and communication of the person with the earth.

If you always walk on the asphalt, live in a concrete house and instead of singing birds you hear the rumbling of the car - the soul begins to languish, discouragement and incomprehensible melancholy seize the man. But a person does not know about this and so lives.

And should he go out into the living nature, walk on the ground barefoot, cuddle up to the tree - and suddenly the soul revives, for some reason the person becomes joyful.

And the answer is simple:

when a little child is separated from his mother - he will cry and be sad, and wait (desire) for a timely meeting with his mother. So the Earth for man is nothing but a dear Mother. By invisible energy, all people are connected with the Earth, and it is the Earth that will not allow a person to degrade, lose his high intellect.

Namely the Earth is that wisdom, that makes a man the crown of the creation of God - meaningful, conscious, that always creates harmony. These are not empty words, you need to know about this, and communicate with the earth as much as possible.

Causing pain and anguish on the Earth will affect the person

Do not deliver the Earth physical suffering in the form of mining, thoughtless use of machinery: tractors, excavators and so on.

Only a deeply ignorant person is able to dig the earth, changing its landscape, that is, face, and, think, that it will bring him joy and success in life. For example, to create conditions for growing a large number of vegetables and fruits: the disfigured land, suffering from pain, will give rise to vegetables and fruits that can not be eaten - they are filled with the energy of pain, energy of physical and moral torment of the earth.

Do not torment the Earth with such actions - they come from ignorance of people. Causing suffering to the Earth, the person, without understanding it himself, breaks his happy life, crosses his movement to the divine sources. The soul and the psycho-emotional part of the person react to the suffering of the Earth, and this in the future will cause illnesses of the body and psyche.

You will get the harvest, but at what cost? And any berry, which grew up in flesh tattered by iron ladle – brings only death. Do not eat such fruits - that is a poison of delayed action. This poison will accumulate in such a body, and death will then follow in the form of a heart defect, or the liver will decay, or the person will be ill, not knowing from what.

The use of technologies that change the landscape of the Earth and its surface, and hence the climate in this place, is a great harm, a great evil. Climate change – it is a disease of the planet, which means people's illness - this will affect not only their bodies, but also their psyche. Do not torment your Mother - because torturing the Earth, you torture yourself, because you are one with your mother, that is, with the Earth. If the Earth will change its climate, and change it for the better - you can say that she feels good. If you change the landscape of the Earth, and therefore the climate in certain areas - this is harm.

Bring the Earth only joy and true warmth of your soul and your kind hands - and you will never be sick, and despondency will leave such a person.

Why is it useful to walk barefoot

When a person stands barefoot on a living Earth - this is the same thing as when a mother holds in her arms a baby. Invisible energies are enveloping such a man, permeate and warm all of his cells. And this energy - is maternal, for the Earth – it is truly a MOTHER.

Man, stepping barefoot on the Earth, connects with the whole Universe, she begins to feel him. Disease, if there is, can leave a person, and even the psyche changes – man feels calmer, more confident. The character changes: more balanced and gentle, a man becomes more kind, performs less bad deeds, he will be able to see deeper into the meaning of his life; bad deeds, if he had done them – he will no longer be able to do it.

And what is the morning dew and how is it useful?

The dew – it is the living energy of the Earth and the cosmos, which the grass produces as a living organism that lives in this cosmic space. The grass has all the energies of the Cosmos, for it has a connection with the planets. The dew is very healthy. The dew cures diseases of the skin, but not all and not always. Rolling over in the dew from the morning – acts beneficially on the entire body and the subtle body of man, and after that you can swim in the water.

And what happens when children go barefoot?

The child steps barefoot on Mother Earth - such contact brings happiness and joy to the Earth, she sings through this little child her song of cosmic being and wisdom. Walk, little child, with your barefoot on Mother Earth! As a mother who gives everything to her child, so the Earth, gives everything she can to the children - namely: the health to the body and mind. The body of such a person, who has already grown up into an adult, will calmly react to the surrounding environment, for example, to severe temperature drops - his body will activate his hidden abilities, and in the most extreme situations such a person will survive and not even fall ill. And this is nothing more, than the invisible connection of the Earth with the human being, and this is called - love, and this is harmony.

A child who walks barefoot from a small age on Earth-mother – can be kind, and namely kindness allows him to be honest. Such a person can not deceive, but can give, but will not allow anyone to destroy life - that is, the planet, nature, water, air, his parents, his children.

Kindness and sunshine to your thoughts!

A foreign thought in your own space

Only man himself - is the creator. If he uses someone's thoughts to create his Space of Love, then such a space will never love him, because another person created this space with his thought, for thought is primary, and physical action - is secondary.

Do not let anyone and do not use someone else's thought in creating of your own kin's domain, that is, the Space of Love. It's like telegony: this land is never yours. If telegoni can be removed - the volhvs found a way, but the virginity of the land can not be returned.

You can use some individual technical elements (taken from someone) that help to better work the land with the least harm to it, and to bring them into you original thought in the creation of the space. For example: do not dig deeply the earth, but 10 cm, to mulch; not with metal work the earth, but use wooden plows, etc.

If you have a child in a kin'd domain, and by the age of 5-7 it starts to feel bad, he will want to transplant the trees from one place to another, and some places level the earth from the ridges and plant flowers on them, making a lawn for games and resting, then you know: with such actions the child will hint to you that this land is not yours, that is, there lives a strangers thought - it created this space. Fear this, for your life will pass by you. But these words are not for deterrence, but for warning.

Cherish yourselves as the energy of God: your thought is only for you - then the earth will belong only to you.

July 23 is the day of dachnik and the holiday of the whole Earth

What is the difference between dachniks and other people who live and grow food on their land? What role did they play for the Earth?

The only difference between them and all others - is the relationship of these people to their six hundred square meters of land.

Six hundred square meters of a hectare is a rather small territory. And man, possessing even a small energy of his own, could warm these six hundred square meters with his heart. After suffering in concrete and asphalt the person came to his plants, after all he planted them with his own hands. He treated the land as his own, and took care of it. Plants growing there (trees, including fruit trees, bushes with berries, flowers, vegetables planted), gave this man his love. They grew for him, for he loved and caressed them, in return they loved him.

A man could not drive a tractor on these six hundred square meters to plow the land, and thereby inflict enormous irreparable damage on the earth. Thanks to this, he treated the land with his own hands. Without realizing it, he behaved with the least damage to the Earth, and the Earth, realizing this, in return, gave him his love and gratitude.

Through these people, the Earth, as a reasonable organism, was able to understand that people are returning to an understanding of a harmonious life. Thus, they (the dachniks) have really played a vital role in avoiding an all-planetary catastrophe.

And what products will be in great demand in the future? How will they be grown and how will they differ from others? After all, it's not that they grew on the territory of 1 hectare, and not 100 hectares. What is their secret or peculiarity?

These are the products that a person grows for his son, or daughter, and for himself, or for the most loved and dear people. In such products there is no thought of selling, but only love. No other products will have the true energy of Love. You should know this. This is the wisdom of the Veds.

The dark priests knew about this and did everything to make people eat food grown for sale, and, accordingly, the same attitude towards the land: at any cost to get a large number of produce.

And what is the meaning and purpose of the Earth holiday?

The Earth for Man is everything: nowhere else can a Man incarnate. Here are your joys and hopes, and only here is the continuation of the Kin.

Namely planet Earth was created from the very beginning for Man – this is how the Earth is different from all other planets. Earth is unique in its capabilities. She is a mother, for she loves and feeds man, and at the same time she is a child, for she is in need of love and care, in the tenderness and warmth of hearts and thoughts, no less than man. And all this can only be given by man. Self-love in an intelligent person is always associated with love for the Earth.

Soon you will realize the importance of the Earth in your life and will cherish it as the most precious.

Those who live in the city - we advise you to have your own plot of land. Grow on it everything you want, including flowers. When you will part with this space for the winter, you will want to return there in spring more quickly.

The Holiday of the Earth must live in the heart of a person, not the date marked on the calendar. Erroneous is he who thinks that if the state makes such a holiday, then the Earth will be loved. You should love her - those who are capable - with all tenderness and purity! And this for her is more precious.

Gathering for the "Meeting of Kin Hearts"

A good idea was born to the inhabitants of one of the villages in the Sverdlovsk region: to combine the creation of the School "Happiness", that is, the planting of orchards and groves of the school, with conducting of "Meeting of Kin Hearts". The organizers of the gathering asked the question: what could the Dolmen Spirits advise them for holding such meetings? Here's what they said:

Sooner or later happy families will live on the blossoming Earth, and such a concept, as a lonely person who has not created a family will disappear completely from people's lives. Of course, this will happen - sooner or later, better if it is sooner.

"Meetings of Kin Hearts" will occur. And if men and women have gathered in one place in search of their half, we can advise such games and actions at such meetings:

"On the first day, let everyone who visits come to ask a question:" Why, for what purpose do you want to create a family?" And in general, whether they want to create a family, or to meet a half, and then to doubt whether it is a half or no. Let all those assembled be very clear about what they came for, what do they really want? It will be good if there is a person who can explain what true value a family has in a person's life, that a lonely person can never be a creator in the true divine sense of the word, that a lonely person is a pain for the Universe, suffering for God and suffering for his Kin."

To the men: "A man should remember that the calm of a woman depends on him. He first comes to a woman for meeting. If he goes to meet her, then he has a purpose and a plan, namely: he wants to create a family, he wants to make a woman happy and, in turn, become such, and that children are born, and not just any, but only happy for a joyful, creative life.

If a man thinks that his woman should be his beneficent, then the man has lost his energy, and that means he is not a man in the full sense of the word.

It must be remembered, that it is the man who is the creator, and the woman helps him in this. A man can really make his woman a Goddess and himself be happy. A desolate, empty man will turn into a dried flower even the most beautiful Goddess. Today you often do this, because the true goal is lost. People go and think that someone can and should make them happy and solve all their issues, for no one has ever told them that they themselves and only themselves are the builders of their joyful life or a dull and bitter one. "

For women: "It is desirable for a woman to remember, that she is tenderness, hope and affectionate warmth of the family hearth. If a woman can give warmth to a man - that, true warmth, when the soul, even the most stagnant, will be able to turn around sweetly and "blissfully stretch" - believe it, a man will not refuse such a woman, even if she is not the most beautiful and bright on the outside".

Games and activities for participants:

"In the beginning, we recommend you to stand in two circles - women separately, men separately; it is desirable to be in the forest (coniferous or deciduous forest, it is not recommended or in aspen grove, it is better in a birch forest). Let the women sing:

*I am a flower of the universe, I am the flower of the earth,
I chant a song about my love,
I will meet a half today for myself,
And my heart will beat brighter.
This man will be kind and dear,
Children will be born - we will give them life!
Then the men sing:
I see different grass, a lot of flowers,
And one is cherished – Love is awaiting me,
I'm approaching it, and will gently hug it,
Will nourish it with a pure and tender song!*

During singing, women rotate around the course of the sun, and men - against the movement of the sun. Women are the first, and then men.

And the night will come – you will go out into an open space and to the shining stars in the sky, will address them with your desires.

Even if you do not find a half in this gathering - your life will still change.

The only thing - is to do everything with faith, if there is no faith in it, it's better not to do it. "

"At these gatherings you can use the following: walk into an oak or birch grove and let everyone move at will, that is, not with their eyes choosing a path, but with their heart. So each can go to his tree. Of course, this tree never met this person, but for some reason it chose you and your heart led you to this tree. Tell it your desires - believe it, it will want to help you »

Also: "Let them stand in two lines (a line of women and a line of men). Men begin (they should not see the sequence of the women). With a blindfold, the man moves along the line of women and each one takes her by the hand. Thus, he can choose a close or even related energy. Women can do the same. But all this should happen at will "

"It's good, if you plant flowers, any, in the place where the inhabitants of this settlement will allow you. Just do not transplant the wildflowers.

*You, flowers, flowers, flowers, grow in joy,
For people and for the Earth you always sing.
Your song is not audible, but it is beautiful,
I hear bird voices, and my heart feels marvelous!*

Flowers can be associated with the Space of Love and with children. Planting with seeds. Thus, people's thought aspires into the future, therefore into Eternity. In this way, people bring harmony to themselves, to the Earth and to the Universe. "

"Today, through the circle dances, games, songs, people can not always feel the kinship, but wildlife, flowers, trees can help in this.

For example, you can plant any kind of tree with the seedlings (but preferably, cedar, oak, spruce, pine, birch, or bush, fruit bearing berries) the word LOVE, or two words: HAPPY FAMILY. But do not play with it, but with full understanding, for the Universe will nurture these words, and those who have planted trees and shrubs will always have access to these energies, that is, in the life of these people they will take part and help them, and the distances will not interfere."

"At such gatherings, let everyone pay attention to the preservation of one's own energy, one that only he has: try less, or better exclude in general the hugs and kisses with anyone, as well as the bodily exchange of energy (through massages and other contacts with the body). Do not dissolve your energy and do not fill yourself with a stranger's, for a close to your energy person might not feel you. And at the same time do not pretend, try to behave as you really are. Your goal is important, and it is pure and bright - the creation of a happy family.

Ladies, preserve your maiden energy for your husbands. And when you meet a man with whom you want to bind your life, you will feel yourself a worthy energy and give him your universe.

Namely a lady (woman) should preserve her own energy - this living fire, and this fire will warm her husband and her whole family, and the man will take care of this energy and cherish it, because he feels that without such energy it is bad for him and even it is impossible to live.

And if you succumb to the tricks of people who call themselves teachers (practitioners, masters, etc.) and, in groups, send your love, your energy somewhere (the teacher will tell you where), then know: love will never come to you, because, no matter how much of it comes to you, you will always send it away from yourself.

Your task - is to create a happy family. Namely the energy of your families that will bring harmony to the whole planet Earth, and this is true. It is easy to understand these words - you will feel them with your soul, and whoever does not feel them with the soul - let him give away their love further. Its better to give money, and even share the bread, but keep your living energy, for teachers like this always gather your living energy, in return, in the end, you will receive emptiness and disappointment.

Know, that the living energy inherent in a person can not be bought for any amount of money, because the money itself exists and lives only because of your living energy. Therefore, share your money, save your energy for your families, and without such energy a person can never create and keep a family, because the family is also a living energy, and it is this energy that creates harmony in the whole Universe. "

Appeal to the participants of the gathering "Meeting of Kin Hearts" from the Spirits of Dolmens

We appeal to you, to those people who live for one reason or another alone, who have not found the very closest heart. Try to understand, that a lonely person – it is a pain for everyone: for God, for the Universe, for his Kin. You have not yet met a person who fell in love with you, and you him.

What is love? It is a living with high intelligence energy, that is, it is reasonable. But she can live only in a suitable place for her - it's a living nature and a very pure and kind heart that really wants to create a family for the birth of children for the joy of the Earth, the Universe and the Kin. Therefore, the most important thing that you have to do - is determine yourself very clearly within yourself, that you really want to create a strong and reliable family, and put all your efforts for it in the name of Love itself, in the name of your Kin, in the name of our Mother - Earth, in the name of God - the great Creator. No second thoughts should be present in your head - it will mean that your heart radiates purity, that is, your pure thoughts.

If you intend to live in a city apartment - we do not guarantee anything. But if you want to create a space of Love (note, not the space where you want to grow vegetables and fruits, but the space where Love will live) - believe it, Love really will visit you, and if she feels well there, she will never leave you.

Today, the Space of Love began to be confused with the land parcel, where the main goal is the cultivation of food. It is being imposed intentionally by those who hate you and all of us. Representatives of Western countries, who were turned into biological robots, who can not fully understand what the Space of Love is, because of their considerate practicality and technogenic education. This is the difference between Russia and all other states. Namely this is what the Russians have preserved in themselves, namely this is the vey salvation for the whole Earth. This is preserved in Rus'.

We will feel very sorry if you can not understand the essence of what was said. Grow vegetables and fruits in your own space, but they must be grown in the name of Love, and not for the purpose of selling them. This is difficult for Western people to understand. You can still understand this.

We love you and wish you only happiness! It is for this purpose that man is created - to be happy. You – those, who "woke up" - begin to return to Earth the concept and meaning of life. Be happy, creating the energy of Eternity called FAMILY!

*With tenderness I hold your palms,
I treasure you one and only.
Earrings flowering on birches,
I am happy that you are near me.
Dear to me, are all your little giggles
And your eyes are precious to me,
And when you talk with sadness,
And when you're full of joy.
And also I will say, without hiding the words,
I want to talk about this:
I have great joy in my soul,
That I can always love you!
Little rain drops fall,
And in the winter is white snow,
I will dry off all your little tears
And I will warm you, my dear.
And when we take up arms,
Make a more confident step,
We will smile at life,
Let the heart withstand the beat!*
